BIG JOURNAL EVENT HITS CLIMAX

All-Electric Stove Tops
Award List at Walker
Theater Today

Installation of a General Electric range in the kitchen of Mrs. Alta Hellman's home at 1906 South Sycamore became a realized dream today when she was awarded the grand prize at the close of The Journal's all-electric cooking school at Walker's theater.

The range will be installed by Wilson and Hill company of Santa Ana, who gave the prize.

Before the grand award was made, 50 other prizes of food and household goods were presented to members of the audience.

The theater was packed upstairs and down for this final session of the three-day school which has been sponsored by The Journal, with Mrs. Ruth Erb, home economist, in charge.

Today's session opened with a skit, with Jimmie Adams, master of ceremonies, depicting a bored husband, and Hilda Staininger, Mrs. Erb's assistant, his anxious wife. A dramatic climax was reached when the husband told his wife to "go and buy" an all-electric kitchen, and the curtain rose on the pretty blue and white model room in which Mrs. Erb then conducted the last session of the school.

Her final demonstration today was the making of a flaky pie crust, and she also included directions for cake and icing, baked ham, biscuits, and broiled fish with tartar sauce, in her lecture.

FATHER GABRIEL RYAN DIES

Father Gabriel Ryan, 74, of St. Catherine's Catholic church in Laguna Beach, died last night in St. Joseph's hospital following a stroke Sunday night.

His failure to appear for mass Monday morning alarmed Miss Greta O'Dwyer, his housekeeper, who went to his room and found him unconscious on the floor. Laguna Beach police and the coroner's office today were conducting an investigation, since it was reported there were several bruises on his body, possibly sustained in falling.

Father Ryan had been in Laguna Beach for about two years, going there from Huntington Park. He served overseas in the World War as chaplain of the Dublin Fusiliers. Funeral arrangements were being made today.

Dismiss Injunction on Fullerton City Hall

Thousand Die in Flood of Mud

OSARUSAWA, Akita Prefecture, Japan. (AP)—Three thousand rescue workers dug tonight in treacherous mud for the bodies of 1000 missing residents of this town, engulfed by the rushing waters of a broken mine reservoir. Some of the bodies were buried 20 feet deep in the poisonous ooze.

Eighty bodies had been found at nightfall.

The railroad bureau said 320 houses had been swept away and 200 inundated. The known dead was placed at 250, with 1000 still missing.

The torrent raced down upon the village from one of the largest copper mines in the empire. Sleeping inhabitants were trapped in their beds. Their homes were caught up by the flood and dashed against the rocky banks of a mountain stream.

The majority of the residents met immediate death by drowning. Others were suffocated in mud carried by the water, a poisonous solution which was used at the mine for washing copper ores.

Hundreds of bodies were washed onto the banks of the mountain stream, transformed in a muddy torrent. Many were women, who still clasped babies in their arms.

Bursting of the reservoir was believed caused by heavy rains which swelled its contents.

NAB S. A. MAN IN SWINDLE

Howard Atcheson Jailed
In L. A. Probe of Sweepstakes

Caught in a Los Angeles sheriff's investigation of an alleged $3,000,000 sweepstakes swindle, Howard Atcheson of Santa Ana, was in jail there today.

Atcheson, who gave his address as 702 West Chestnut street, Santa Ana, was arrested with Frank Burnham in an automobile on the highway north of Los Angeles. Twenty-five thousand spurious sweepstakes tickets were in the car, officers reported. A third suspect, George Nicotia, was arrested in an apartment house.

Uncovering of the asserted ring followed two weeks after a similar racket of the Arlington Downs race track in Texas, was exposed.

Sweepstakes tickets with a face value of $1,500,000 were seized in what officers said today was the thwarting of an attempt to reap a fortune on the Christmas day handicap at Santa Ana.

Department of justice agents joined with sheriff's deputies in the investigation.

The sweepstakes tickets, said Sheriff's Inspector Norris Stensland, indicating cash prizes of from $100 to $50,000 are fraudulently stamped "Authorized by the Mexican government."

ATTEMPT TO BALK VOTE CHARGED

Leaders Attack Council
In Move to Drop Suit
Against Building

Clearing the decks for an election fight over location of a proposed new city hall in Fullerton, instructions for dismissal of an injunction suit against the city were filed today by Raymond Thompson.

A statement with the notice of dismissal accused the city council of attempting to thwart the people.

Dismissal of the injunction suit, filed by W. F. Coulter, Harold Hale and W. J. Carmichael, will clarify the present situation in Fullerton, and will throw the matter before voters on its own merits, Thompson said today.

Community unrest has reached an acute stage during the past month in Fullerton following action of the city council in changing proposed location of the new city hall from a site on West Whiting avenue to one in Commonwealth park, on West Commonwealth avenue.

The council, by a three-to-two vote, acted to change the location after a WPA application for a building on the West Whiting plot had been on file for three years, and after the application had been granted, Thompson said today.

The argument for dismissal claims that the dominant trio on the council "were still trying to find some means of avoiding the election," called by initiative for next Dec. 8. "They even went so far as to spend the city's money for an opinion by an outside attorney, which would give them some legal technicality to hide behind in refusing to call the election, the petitioners state."

People to Decide
At the last minute, however, they realized the futility of further efforts to thwart the people and called the election. The three men stated today in instructions for dismissal of the case.

The council set the Dec. 8 date for a vote on a proposed ordinance which would prohibit the city from erecting a jail and city hall on the park property. The law upon which residents will vote prohibits construction of any buildings not for recreation or park purposes.

"As our desire is primarily that the people should have an opportunity to vote on the question, and the city council having been forced, very much against its will, to call an election, we now prefer to let the people decide the question, rather than the court," the request for dismissal states.

"We yesterday received a letter from one of the attorneys for the city definitely stating that the council agrees to be bound by the people's vote. Having that assurance, and having finally won for the people the right to speak on this question, we are dismissing the suit so that the people's vote will govern, rather than the court's decision," the dismissal request states.

'Stork Derby' Is Ruled Valid

TORONTO. (Canadian Press)—In a decision upholding the validity of the famous "stork derby" clause of the Millar will, Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton today ruled that the $500,000 prize was intended for the "mothers of legitimate children only." The disputed clause, providing a fortune to the mother in Toronto who bore the most children in a 10-year period which ended last Oct. 31, had been attacked by relatives of the wealthy Canadian.

Some 17 mothers competed in the derby, which wound up in a welter of ties, conflicting claims and accusations.

The judgment was largely preliminary in nature. It ruled against the claims of relatives of the Toronto lawyer who contended the ear baby race was against public policy.

Later Mr. Justice Middleton will hear evidence on the claims of the leading mothers and direct the executors of the will as to distribution of the $500,000.

Politician Dead

Pneumonia last night claimed the life of Maurice Maschke (above), 68-year-old Republican "boss" of Cleveland, Ohio. Starting as a grocer, Maschke spent the last 40 years of his life as a colorful politician during which he dared challenge such legendary figures as the late Senator Mark Hann, "maker of presidents."

DAVIES GOES TO RUSSIA

Attorney Is Named to Succeed Bullitt as
U. S. Ambassador

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The appointment of Joseph E. Davies, prominent Washington international lawyer, as American ambassador to Moscow, was announced today by the White House.

Davies will succeed William C. Bullitt, who recently was appointed envoy to France.

The name of Davies, who took an active part in the recent presidential election campaign as a member of the advisory committee of the Democratic national committee, was submitted to the Russian government for approval before President Roosevelt left on his South American voyage.

Approval Received
On the assumption that approval would be forthcoming, the President issued the new ambassador's commission before he left the White House. Moscow's formal agreement to the new envoy, always necessary before such appointments are final, was received in Washington this morning.

A native of Wisconsin, where he was born in Watertown in 1876, Davies served as chairman of the federal trade commission from 1913 to 1918 under President Wilson and was an ex-officio member of the war industries board.

After acting as economic advisor to President Wilson at the Versailles peace conference, he was offered successively the ambassadorship to Russia, the ambassadorship to Italy and the governorship of the Philippines. He declined all of these posts to run for the United States senate in Wisconsin in 1918, and was defeated by a small majority.

Recently Married
Davies recently was married to the former Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton of New York.

The new ambassador has been engaged in law practice in Washington for a number of years, during which time he has represented various governments in international arbitration proceedings.

He acted as counsel for taxpayers in the celebrated Ford tax case growing out of the controversy between the Mellon family and the late Senator James Couzens.

SEEK TO CUT OFF MADRID SUPPLIES

Move Aimed to Prevent Arms Being Sent in
By Other Nations

By the Associated Press
Spanish Fascists, intent on cutting off war supplies to the Madrid government, will destroy the port of Barcelona if necessary, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden informed the house of commons today.

Eden disclosed his government had received a communication Nov. 17 from the Burgos Junta threatening such action to halt what it called "the scandalous traffic in arms, munitions, tanks, airplanes and even toxic gases."

The administration of Gen. Francisco Franco charged the "real nationality" of ships bringing the supplies to Barcelona was "Russian or Spanish."

The foreign secretary's declaration followed a British demand to the insurgent provisional government to declare its intentions regarding a threatened Fascist blockade of Barcelona.

Informed sources in Paris indicated the French government would follow London's example.

Some quarters in London interpreted the British action as lending "tacit recognition" to the provisional administration at Burgos merely by acknowledging its existence.

OHIO'S WAGE LAW UPHELD

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (AP)—A three-judge federal court held Ohio's minimum wage law, affecting 42,000 women and minors, constitutional today.

The court said that the Ohio law was different from those of New York and the District of Columbia upon which the U. S. supreme court ruled adversely recently.

Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, Columbus attorney who challenged the constitutionality of the Ohio measure, enacted in 1933, said appeal would be carried to the U. S. supreme court.

The action held the Ohio law was based on "the value of reasonable service." It said this was distinguishable from the laws of New York and the District of Columbia which were based on the necessity for a decent and healthful living.

RALLY FOR 'BIG GAME' JAILS 12

BERKELEY. (AP)—A dozen University of California students were held in jail today as an aftermath of vandalism which swept Berkeley last night as "big game" fever seized 2000 students.

Police said the college men, coming from a rally for the Stanford-California football game tomorrow, were arrested for tearing down a 550-volt trolley wire, striking onlookers, setting bonfires in the streets, overturning automobiles, turning in false alarms, stealing equipment from fire engines.

Mrs. Kenneth Carey, 31, was cut when a bottle crashed through a street car window. Street car service was resumed at 3 a. m., today after a six-hour shutdown in the university district.

The Air Is Full of 'em!

And we don't mean mosquitoes! The air is full of 'em. Twenty-four hours a day they penetrate the ether—unseen and unheard—except when snared by that modern marvel—the radio. You've probably guessed by now that we are talking about radio waves. They never stop—24 hours a day! But the only daily paper in Orange county which prints 24-hour programs is The Journal. And the Journal is the only paper which prints the schedule of Orange county's own station—KVOE. For full radio news—read The Journal—the paper that prints ALL the news.

PLAN LIBRARY FOR LENDING OF TOYS

Santa Ana Coordinating Council last night launched plans for a toy loan library, week-end camps for boys and girls, and a survey of recreation facilities, character building agencies, delinquency and liquor shops.

This development followed enthusiastic reports of the good obtained this summer in sending under-privileged children to Boy Scout and Girl Reserve camps.

Organized less than a year ago, of representatives of law enforcement, school, service and character building agencies, the council has as its main object the reclaiming of "borderline" boys and girls who are becoming problems but have not come before police or the courts.

Aid for Youth

Superior Judge H. G. Ames, one of the founders, last night stressed the principal object when he warned against too great a diversion of interest and the starting of crusades.

Through the council, funds were raised to send three girls to Girl Scout camp, seven to Girl Reserve camp, and 48 boys to the Boy Scout camp. Mrs. Dorothy Russick, Miss Mary Porter and Harrison White, leaders in the three organizations, reported great changes for good occurred in the children who were given the opportunity of life in the open.

Committee Named

Appointed to prepare for a toy loan library, where children without toys may borrow them on cards as they borrow books from the library, were Frank Cory, Mrs. E. J. Kuhne and Mrs. Crawford Nalle.

15 States Now Have Jobless Insurance Laws

WASHINGTON. (P)—Fifteen states and the District of Columbia now have unemployment insurance laws and efforts to speed enactment in some other states are under way.

The reason: Because the 1 per cent excise taxes on 1936 payrolls will go into the federal treasury unless the state has such a law on Dec. 31. States with unemployment taxes get the benefit of 90 per cent allowances against the federal tax.

These are Alabama, California, Idaho, Indiana, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Utah and Wisconsin.

were appointed a survey committee to look into recreational facilities, character building agencies, delinquency and the number of liquor outlets.

Those asked to work on week-end camps for boys are W. K. Hillyard, Dr. Emmett Raitt and Constable Jesse Elliott.

For girls' week-end camps Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Miss Mary Porter and Miss Marie Fowler were appointed.

Girls 'Adopt' Dolls

Mrs. Drown, reporting on a co-ordinating council convention in Los Angeles, said the toy loan library is a success there. Girls who are careful with borrowed dolls are allowed to take out "adoption papers" and become owners of the dolls after six weeks of proper care.

Miss Vanche Plumb, secretary of the council, reported that the adjustment committee, which handles the more advanced cases, had worked to better 10 cases, getting fine results with four, fair results with three others, and little progress in three.

TOWNSEND CASE BEFORE JURY

WASHINGTON. (P)—Representative Bell (D., Mo.) today appeared before a federal grand jury considering conspiracy charges against Dr. Francis E. Townsend, author of the Townsend old age pension plan, for refusing to testify at a house committee hearing.

Bell was chairman of a special house committee which investigated the old age pension organization last session.

Townsend and two associates were cited to the United States district court after Townsend had walked out of the Bell committee hearing, and his aides—Dr. Clinton Wunder and John B. Kiefer—had refused to answer committee subpoenas.

State Securities Act Is Upheld

SACRAMENTO. (P)—The third district court of appeal yesterday upheld the constitutionality of important sections of the California corporate securities act regulating the sale of so-called personally-owned stock.

The decision also affirms the conviction in Stanislaus county of A. E. Murphy and his wife, who sold 20,000 shares of stock at $1 a share to residents of the county.

The court in its decision sustained the contention of the state corporation department that the sale of the stock by an individual not holding a proper license from the department is in violation of the law, if any part of the proceeds from the sale goes for the development of the project on which the stock is issued.

EIGHT DOOMED FOR SABOTAGE

NOVOSIBERSK, Western Siberia. (P)—Eight men—seven Russians and a German engineer—faced death sentences today on charges of anti-Communist sabotage.

The government announced the men pleaded guilty to deliberate attempts to wreck the great Kemerovo coal mines which cost the lives of 34 miners. A ninth defendant pleaded guilty in part to the offense for which the penalty is death.

American Is Naturalized By Filipino

MANILA, P. I. (P)—Francis Burton Harrison, former American governor general of the Philippines, has become a naturalized Filipino.

He took the oath of citizenship at a special ceremony before President Manuel Quezon of the commonwealth, Vice President Sergio Osmena and 60 national assemblymen.

Harrison is the first American to become a citizen of the Philippines.

Marines Killed In Plane Crash

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (P)—Two United States marines died in the crash of their airplane on a farm at Lothian, 16 miles south of here.

The dead are First Lieut. Cleo R. Keen, the pilot, and Sgt. Frank Eagan, an enlisted man. Both were attached to the marine corps base at Quantico, Va.

Plays Last Card in Fight To Avoid Prison Term

Faced with life imprisonment in the state penitentiary as an habitual criminal, K. N. Jackson, alleged bunco-check artist, today placed his only chance for freedom on one roll of the wheel.

Admitting passing a fictitious check for $26.19 with his wife's cooperation, in an Anaheim woman's shop, Jackson pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity.

His wife, charged with the same offense, pleaded guilty, and made oral application for probation.

Jackson was charged by the district attorney's office with three prior convictions on forgery counts. All occurred in the state of Washington in 1921, 1923 and 1931. A fourth count charging prior conviction was dismissed.

Jackson denied the first prior conviction today on the plea that it was an illegal sentence, admitted the second, and denied the third on the grounds that it was a re-committal for violation of probation.

The court appointed Dr. Franklin J. Van Meter, Norwalk state hospital psychiatrist, and Dr. Paul Bowers, of Los Angeles, to examine Jackson. He will be tried before a jury in department two of the superior court on Dec. 15.

MORE ABOUT MADRID

recognized the Fascist government formally as the real government of Spain.

Great Britain will look upon any interference with her vessels by Spanish insurgents as "piracy," informed sources said tonight after Foreign Secretary Eden disclosed the Fascist threat.

Gravely concerned with the protection of British shipping at Barcelona from bombardment, the government was said by these sources to have decided that piracy was the only description in international law for the intended blockade.

Answer With Warships

France, although well-informed sources said the government is determined to adhere to strict neutrality, answered the reported threat with warships. Authorities ordered to stand off Barcelona.

In Madrid, Socialist troops repulsed insurgent infantry and cavalry attacks at the start of the third week of the siege of the capital, the war ministry asserted.

Hundreds Killed

Authoritative estimates of the death toll were not available as Fascist air raiders dumped new loads of bombs into the heart of the battered city. The figure, however, was said to be "hundreds."

The Communist newspaper Mundo Obrero appealed for evacuation of the entire noncombatant civil population as the government commanders gave no indication of prospective surrender despite the warning of General Franco that the city must yield or be destroyed.

A steady stream of men, women and children poured out of Madrid's danger spots in a hard rain today under urgent orders to evacuate the areas of heavy Fascist land and aerial bombardment.

Rebel Planes Downed

The rains last night and early this morning forced a let-up in the fighting and gave the refugees an opportunity to take up new quarters.

Defense authorities announced government planes yesterday had shot down six insurgent craft, losing two of their own planes in various encounters. The largest aerial fight of the war, these authorities said, occurred when a fleet of 16 government planes attacked 44 enemy craft which included 18 trimotor bombers, six light bombers and a score of pursuit planes.

U. S. ALSO RECEIVES REPORT OF BLOCKADE

WASHINGTON. (P)—The United States government was in receipt today of indirect warning from the Spanish Fascist command that it intended to stop all traffic in the port of Barcelona and that foreign vessels should stay away from there.

This was revealed today by R. Walton Moore, acting secretary of state, who said that the communication was transmitted in such a roundabout manner that it did not warrant a reply.

SON OF LATE DICTATOR EXECUTED AT VALENCIA

VALENCIA, Spain. (P)—Jose Antonio de Rivera, son of the late dictator, General Miguel Primo de Rivera, was executed at Alicante prison by a firing squad of assault guards today.

Young de Rivera was once commander of the Spanish Falange, a group of aristocrats. He was condemned by a popular tribunal for participation in the Fascist rebellion, although he denied it.

ATLANTA. (P)—Flames raging through the five-story Cable Piano Company building killed at least three persons yesterday, injured a dozen and ruined property which A. E. Foster, building manager, estimated at $200,000.

Firemen, wearing gas masks to combat dense smoke, brought the bodies of a man and two women from the fifth floor, which was occupied by the Atlanta Conservatory of Music.

Mountain Gale Fatal for Man

CADOMIN, Alta. (P)—A strong wind, estimated at 90 miles an hour, swept down from the Rocky Mountains carrying parts of buildings 900 feet, causing boulders to roll down mountain sides, and killing Alex Irons, 40, struck by the roof of a poultry house, Wednesday.

23 Amendments To State Liquor Laws Proposed

SACRAMENTO. (P)—George M. Stout, state liquor administrator, announced there have been to date 23 separate proposals for amendments to the California liquor laws at the next legislative session.

Death Claims Sultan of Jolo

MANILA, P. I. (P)—The Manila Daily Bulletin today reported the death of Sultan Mawallil Wasit, two months after he assumed spiritual rule over Mohammedans of the Philippines.

MAIL FOR SIAM? BETTER HURRY

If your Aunt Fanny lives in any of the Straits Settlements, Siam, Netherlands, East Indies or Australia, you'll have to mail her Christmas package tomorrow.

Otherwise, warned Postmaster Frank R. Harwood, she won't get it until after Christmas.

"Wrap the packages securely in strong paper and stout cord," he advised, pointing out that many packages arrive in dilapidated condition because of poor wrapping.

Other mailing deadlines are Nov. 27 for Hong Kong and Manchuria; Dec. 8 for the rest of China and for Japan; Dec. 6 for Europe, and Nov. 28 for South America.

To Open Sewing Machine Agency

Newland and Company, Orange county agent for the White sewing machine, will open for business next week at 204 North Main street, it was announced today by W. B. Martin, real estate dealer who arranged the lease.

The firm is composed of H. W. Newland and R. N. Rollochow. It has taken over the lease formerly held by Gilbert, Weston and Stearns, electrical dealers. The latter organization has moved to its former location on East Fourth street.

Entering the home through an upstairs bathroom window, the burglar took a Spanish automatic pistol valued at $15, and a ruby ring valued at $500, police said.

Footprints found outside the house indicated the burglar wore shoes with worn rubber heels.

MANY INJURED IN HOMES

More than one-third of all fatal accidents and nearly half of all injuries are sustained in and about the home," George T. De Roulhac, home and farm accident chairman of the local Red Cross, said today.

Annually, 34,000 are killed, 150,000 crippled, 5,000,000 injured—what a price to pay for carelessness!

Through its home and farm accident prevention program, the Red Cross is endeavoring to lower the toll of lives sacrificed.

The week of Oct. 26 to Nov. 1 all schools in the county cooperated with the Red Cross in a check of home conditions, and results of this survey have proven most gratifying, De Roulhac said.

Legion Planning Turkey Shoot

Tustin American Legion post 227 will hold its annual turkey shoot Sunday at the Tustin Gun club. It was announced today.

Turkeys, geese, ducks and perhaps guinea hens will be offered, post officials said. Shotgun and rifle shooting, scatter-board and various games will be offered. The auxiliary will serve sandwiches and soft drinks.

The club is on Lane road, one-half mile south of Eddie Martin's airport.

Today's Recipes at Journal Cooking School

Assorted Hors d'Oeuvres
Caviar hors d'oeuvres: Cream together 2 tablespoons of roquefort cheese and 3 tablespoons of cream cheese. Fill celery stalks of 2-inch length with this mixture. Then with a knife make a narrow, lengthwise trench through the center of each filled celery stalk. Fill trench with a small quantity of caviar. Then cover it over with some of the cheese mixture, making it rounded. Sprinkle with paprika.

Hold large pecan halves together with anchovy paste.
Take cream cheese; mash the cheese; moisten with a little cream, and season well. Make into small balls, and roll in finely chopped parsley.

Take perfect slices of chipped beef, spread with well seasoned cream cheese, roll like a jelly roll, place in the refrigerator for several hours, then cut in 1-inch pieces.

Wrap a thin slice of salami around small portion of American cheese; hold together with toothpick and then broil.

Cut Weber's bread in small rounds or crescent shapes, toast on one side. Spread untoasted side with pimiento cheese, garnish with rings of olive, or portions of ripe olives.

Take rounds of Weber's bread, spread with anchovy paste and garnish with hard cooked egg, and mayonnaise.

Place well seasoned cream cheese balls between large halves of walnuts.

Remove the skin from wieners, cut in 1-inch pieces, and cut in half, not all the way through; insert a piece of dill pickle.

Fillet of Sole
Have the fish cut in long fillets. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, roll and secure with toothpicks. Roll in flour, dip in beaten egg, and roll in fine bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat until delicately browned. Serve with tartar sauce.

Tartar Sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup chopped pickles
1/2 cup chopped olives
1/2 cup chopped parsley
Mix all ingredients together.

Tarragon Dressed Cucumbers
Peel and slice cucumbers thin, then marinate in tarragon vinegar for an hour or longer.

Buttered Asparagus Tips
1 can iris green asparagus tips
Butter
Trim the tips
Remove the asparagus tips from the can and drain well, cut the tips to fit the timble shells, then heat the tips in melted butter, and when ready to serve stand the asparagus tips up in the timble cases.

Jellied Grapefruit Salad
1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup grapefruit juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup grapefruit pulp
1/2 teaspoon scraped onion
Dissolve gelatin in the boiling water, add the grapefruit juice, onion juice, salt, sugar and onion juice, stirring until the sugar is dissolved.

Chill until slightly thickened, then fold in the grapefruit pulp. Pour into individual molds and chill until firm. When ready to serve, unmold on crisp lettuce leaves, serve with cream mayonnaise dressing.

Vanilla Marlow
20 marshmallows, cut in quarters
1 cup milk
1/2 pint whipping cream
1/2 cup granulated sugar
Put marshmallows and milk over hot water and steam until melted. Add the vanilla and cool. When quite cold and beginning to stiffen, combine with the stiffly beaten cream. Pour into tray of the electric refrigerator and freeze from five to six hours.

Petite Fours
2 cups Fisher's pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup Ben Hur vanilla
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Sift flour once, measure and sift again with the baking powder three times. Cream butter thoroughly, then add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla, then fold in the egg whites. Pour into well greased shallow pan and make in a moderate oven or 350 degrees, 30 to 40 minutes. When cool, cut in tiny circles, diamonds or squares. Split the center of each, little cake, fill with whipped cream or custard filling, put together in pairs, cover with melted fondant in a variety of colors and flavors. Decorate with nuts and candied fruits.

Fondant Icing
2 cups sugar
1 cup water
1/2 teaspoon Ben Hur cream of tartar
Place sugar, water and cream of tartar in saucepan, stir until the sugar is dissolved. Place over heat and boil to 238 degrees, or until a little dropped in cold water will form a soft ball. As the mixture boils, remove any crystals that may form on the sides of the pan, wiping the sides with a soft brush. Pour onto large platter, and allow to cool. When cool enough, start working with a spatula, from side to side until the mixture forms a ball. Place the mixture in a bowl, cover tightly and let ripen for 24 hours. Then melt fondant over hot water, color and flavor. Arrange the little cakes on a cake cooler, with a piece of wax paper under the cooler. Pour the fondant over the cakes, and then decorate the cakes with nuts and candied fruits.

Angel Food Cake, Supreme
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 cup Fisher's cake flour
1/2 cups egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Ben Hur cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon Ben Hur vanilla
Few drops Ben Hur almond extract
Beat egg whites with a wire whip to a foam, add cream of tartar, salt, vanilla and almond extract, all at one time, then beat until they stand up in peaks. Add granulated sugar all at once and beat it in. Sift the pastry flour once, measure and sift again with the powdered sugar four times, then add to batter all at one time, folding it in gently. Pour into an ungreased angel food cake pan, cut through several times with a spatula in case of any air bubbles, and bake in a preheated oven of 275 degrees for the first 30 minutes, then increase the heat to 325 degrees and bake at this temperature for 45 minutes. Remove from oven and invert cake pan and let the cake hang until cold. Ice with:

Seven Minute Frosting
2 egg whites, unbeaten
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar, or 1/2 teaspoon white corn syrup
1/2 cups granulated sugar
5 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon Ben Hur vanilla
Place the egg whites, sugar, cream of tartar or corn syrup and water in the top of the double boiler, over rapidly boiling water, and beat with egg beater until the whites will stand up in peaks when the beater is removed. Remove frosting from the fire, add vanilla and continue to beat until the frosting is cool and of the consistency to spread.

DEVELOP UNIT TO DISPOSE OF WASTE

Many new homes to be constructed in the vicinity of Santa Ana will be equipped with the new kitchen waste disposal unit, according to Wilson and Hill, local distributors for General Electric home appliances.

The waste unit is an electrical device that eliminates the home garbage can. It is attached to the drain outlet of the kitchen sink and it automatically grinds all food waste to such a fine degree that it may be flushed down the drain like dishwater. Thus, the food waste or refuse, such as parings, lettuce leaves, beet tops, melon rinds, is quickly disposed of.

"Plates are cleaned right at the sink," the local dealers say. "With the kitchen waste unit there is no need to run outside, in all kinds of inclement weather, to place refuse in the old-fashioned garbage can. All that inconvenience is eliminated."

"Tests over a period of a couple of years have proved that the waste disposal unit keeps lines free flowing due to the scouring action of the water carried pulp. There is no odor."

"This new electrical device is the latest member of the electrical home family. With electric refrigerator, range and electric dishwasher, the new electrical waste disposal unit completes the all-electric kitchen."

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Townsend club anniversaries will be occurring with frequency from now on. And most of the clubs have an organization price which will lead them to celebrate such anniversaries as they occur.

Santa Ana club No. 5 did so last Tuesday evening by putting across an extensive program. Not only did the club celebrate its own second anniversary, but it also celebrated the seventy-second birthday of WALTER R. ROBB.

A. Yerger, its first president. Unfortunately Mrs. Yerger was ill and could not be present to hear the fine things that were said concerning her husband's part in helping make of the club such a live organization.

The program began at 7:30 in the prescribed Townsend club manner by the singing of "America" and giving of the pledge of loyalty to the flag and to the American republic. The meeting was presided over by W. A. Zimmerman, president. A short business session followed. Immediately following the business session Miss Marjorie Keeler, accompanied by Master David Craighead on the piano, rendered two violin solos. The young man followed with a piano solo. These youngsters are splendid in their capabilities and the auditorium full of people applauded them heartily.

This club is one of the very first in the county to receive the new form of club charter issued under the name of "The Townsend National Recovery Plan." An unveiling service was conducted by President Zimmerman in a very impressive manner. He impressively stressed the need of loyalty on the part of all club members, in helping secure the objectives of the Townsend national recovery plan.

The Santa Ana High school double quartet contributed several numbers to great appreciation of the audience. These were the members of the musical organization: Ruth Switzer, Marjorie Flower, Patricia Marlborough, Mercedes Kellough, Bruce Buell, Stanley Pearson, Lee Baker and Richard Coleman. Their accompanist was Venna Osburn.

Former President Yerger was then asked to a seat of honor in front. The meeting was being held on his birthday. He was given several surprises, among which were the presentation of several bouquets and birthday cards and a club member's autographed address book. Also a written token of friendship and esteem. President Zimmerman read an original poem entitled "The Kindly Man," written to express personal esteem to the former president of the club. The measure of their applause indicated how deeply the audience was in accord with its tributes. Yerger responded with fitting thanks for the gifts, and how he would always remember with lasting appreciation the many kind expressions made concerning himself. He concluded with stirring words of encouragement for all Townsendites to go forward into the objectives of the Townsend plan were accomplished.

More entertainment followed. Mrs. John Flock gave a reading. Mercedes Robey gave a vocal selection, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mabel Roach. Mrs. Flora Dolbee, club treasurer, and her sister, Mrs. Willis, gave a one-act skit, entitled "A Slight Misunderstanding." Herbert Kenny reviewed past accomplishments and pointed ahead to the tasks awaiting all loyal Townsendites. The meeting was held in the Richmond M. E. church, and the auditorium was completely filled. Visitors were present from several of the local clubs, and the Garden Grove and Orange clubs also had delegations in attendance.

Costa Mesa club No. 2 has changed their meeting from Tuesday to Friday night. Tonight will be their first meeting since the chance was made. They meet at 7:30 in the Lindbergh school building. Mrs. H. F. Robertson is president. A cordial welcome will be extended to all who will attend.

Orange club No. 3 also meets tonight at 7:30 in the Townsend hall at 149 South Glassell street. Dr. V. A. Wood is president of this club, and Mrs. Hattie Claypool is the secretary. The Orange clubs are all three good live organizations.

Santa Ana Townsendites should all remember that at 6 o'clock tonight club No. 7 will have a potluck dinner, followed by a fine program. Take your table service and some good old-fashioned type of food, and be down at the Orange Avenue Christian church, at the corner of McFadden and Orange streets, in time to get in on this dinner. Then stay for the program, and you'll come home feeling good because you're a Townsendite.

TO KNOW FLOUR IS IMPORTANT

It is one thing to pride oneself on making delicious bread and pastry and another to have every baking come up to one's desires. But one has some choice in the matter. Few select flour with the care they should or give it the credit it deserves for the success of baking. As a matter of fact, flour is the most important ingredient and about the cheapest.

Try to find out some facts about the wheat used and the care in milling determine whether or not the flour is pure white and fine, whether you can depend on it year in and year out.

In the case of Fisher's Blend flour, only choice hard and soft wheats are used and the flour is sifted through silk bolting cloth so that it is always evenly granulated. Expert millers make sure that every run comes up to the standard. The flour is tested constantly by Mary Mills who knows exactly what it should be in your kitchen. The general opinion is that the best flour possible is none too good for your baking and that the best flour available is your best buy.

AID PLANNED FOR TENANT FARMERS

Wallace Has Plan to Aid Sharecroppers to Own Their Land

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A huge plan to lift part of the nation's 2,800,000 tenant farmers and sharecroppers into the ranks of independent land owners appeared today to be headed for congressional action.

Secretary Wallace and a committee named by the President to draft the program face a situation that has drawn caustic criticism of experts for half a century.

In 1880 there were 3,000,000 American farm owners and 1,000,000 tenants. Last year tenants numbered 2,800,000—a gain of 180 per cent—while owners totaled 3,900,000—an increase of only 32 per cent.

Share Cropper System

The oldest reason for this trend, government experts said, was the tobacco and cotton crop system of the South, with large plantations and need for cheap labor. The end of the Civil war found the landlord owning the land and the negro labor power. From this situation evolved the system under which the landlord provided the laborer with means of sustenance, tools etc., while he worked the land, the proceeds of the crop to be divided between the two according to shares.

The depression of 1920 and the crash of 1929, with their foreclosures and liquidation, converted many farm owners into tenants. Finally, some critics asserted that reduced acreages of important crops under federal farm adjustment programs added to the number of shifting, jobless tenants.

Evils of the tenant and sharecropper system, according to Wallace and others, include a wandering, unstable population of millions, who form no lasting relations with schools, churches, or community life.

Farm lands are operated to make the most possible profit for one or two years, the soil being "mined" of its fertility, and buildings allowed to decay.

Undermines Society

Wallace said the system can defeat all plans for soil conservation and that the problem was not confined to the South.

Numerous state governments have investigated the problems. Recently in Arkansas former Governor Futrell said the sharecropper plan was "eating the vitals out of the South's economic structure."

His successor, Governor Mitchell, has invited other states to consider the problems at a meeting Nov. 30.

Most administration leaders have advocated purchase of good farm land with federal funds. Selected tenants would be established on small tracts, paying for the land over 30 or 40 years.

REVIEWS SOUTH SEAS TRIP

As a main feature of their meeting Wednesday night, members of Santa Ana Junior college chapter, American Association of Engineers, heard John McBride, former Jaycee student, discuss his trip to the South seas. The meeting was held in College hall.

McBride spent seven months with a group of boys on a 240-foot power boat, "The Stranger," cruising in the South seas. The boat was owned by Fred Lewis of Balboa.

They visited the Hawaiian, Tahitian, Samoan islands, and the various South sea islands. The ship left April 1 of this year and returned early this month.

Among the articles McBride displayed was native cloth made from the bark of trees, coconut fibre rope, mother of pearl fishhooks, a canoe baller, a head rest for fancy headresses, a mallet to hat cloth out, a poi pounder for the native food and a native fly swatter.

It was decided by the club to visit the Santa Fe shops in San Bernardino and the Colton cement mill Dec. 16.

Officers of the club are Josh Brady, president; Fred Dierker, vice president; William Ruddiman, secretary and Charles Roemer, treasurer.

No One Blamed For Crash Deaths

A coroner's jury at Huntington Beach Wednesday failed to fix blame for an auto crash which resulted in the death of Virgil Childers, 34, and Miss Alta Mae Miller, 22, Los Angeles.

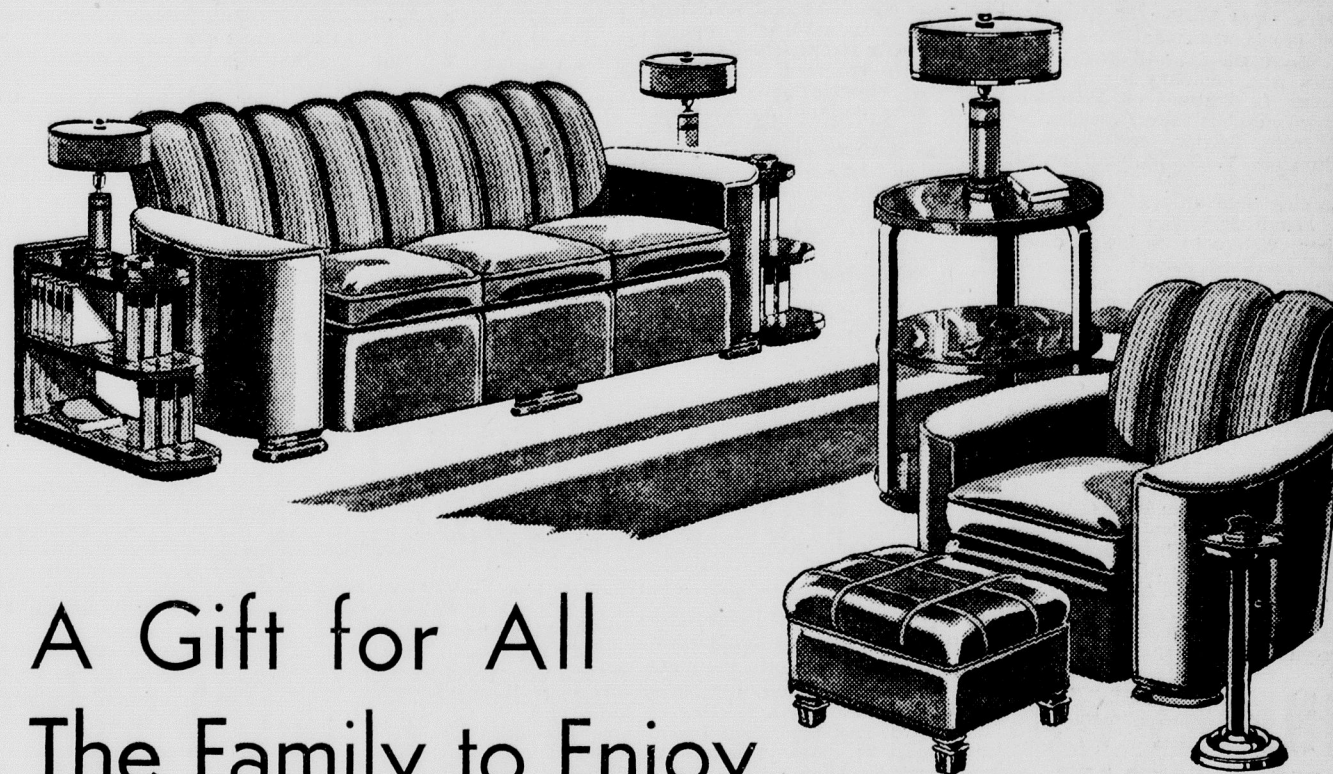

Meanwhile the coroner's office still was attempting to identify the body of a traffic victim who died a week after being struck by an auto at San Juan Capistrano. Dewey Killen, Long Beach marine, is being held on negligent homicide charges as a result of that crash.

UNIONS WIN IN BANANA DISPUTE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Victorious in a federal court decision which prevents the unloading of a cargo of bananas, unionists in the Los Angeles harbor area today pressed a campaign to unionize Southern California truck drivers.

Federal Judge Paul McCormick, ruling the court lacks jurisdiction and that conditions at San Pedro have changed since he ordered the unloading of the banana cargo from the liner California, vacated his order.

United States Marshal Robert Clark, summoned to court to show cause why he had not removed the bananas, testified he was unable to find men willing to work the cargo, that he had no means of protecting the workers and that other cargo was loaded atop the bananas. The court then vacated its order.

NO PROGRESS YET TOWARD SETTLEMENT

By the Associated Press
Striking sailors on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts sought to gain control of the International Seamen's Union officers today as the fourth week of the Pacific coast maritime strike opened without a sign of progress toward settlement.

The strike strategy committee asked the New York state supreme court to rule out a working agreement between the union and steamship operators. The committee asserted union officers secretly obtained the contract through "fraud, collusion and corruption" and never obtained ratification of the membership.

A recapitulation by shipowners showed 213 ships were tied up in Pacific coast ports by the strike.

MORE ABOUT SECURITY ACT

store owner has a $100,000 payroll and his tax for the state fund is 0.8 per cent (as it is in 11 states for 1936), he must pay $900 to the state and $100 to Washington. If the state has no approved law, the entire $1000 comes to the treasury.

Fifteen states and the District of Columbia now have laws meeting the requirements. Several other states may qualify before Dec. 31.

Many individuals have been inquiring about the relationship between old age pensions under the security act and unemployment insurance. There is none. The taxes are separate and distinct. Employers covered by the unemployment section must also pay the pension taxes, amounting together to 3 per cent on 1937 payrolls and to 6 per cent in 1949.

Using Mr. Ben and his son-in-law, Brutus Bolt, to illustrate, their accounts under the pension plan are to be kept directly by the federal government. If the department store where they work fails and they become hard up, they cannot borrow on or get an advance payment from that account.

Whether they will be directly benefited by the unemployment insurance provision depends on whether their state has an insurance system. If it has, each must apply to the state employment office for assistance.

Operation of the state system must be through such an office. This is the first of seven requirements that the federal law says must be met to win approval of the security board. The purpose is to give Mr. Ben an avenue where he will be offered employment, if possible, instead of cash benefits.

Other basic requirements:
No unemployment compensation

Some British Peers Favor Abdication of King Edward If He Weds Wally Simpson

LONDON. (AP)—Some British aristocrats are debating with gravity the friendship between King Edward and Mrs. Wallis Simpson, an informed peer asserted today.

"I would not like to repeat some of the things they are saying," he declared. "I have told them they ought to be ashamed for saying such things about their sovereign."

The aristocracy's principal fear, this source said, is the reported possibility of a marriage between the ruler and the former Baltimore debutante.

"Let Him Abdicate"
To the possibility that King Edward—who has achieved a reputation of being strong-willed—might abdicate in the face of criticism over the possible marriage, the peers were declared to have replied:

"Then let him abdicate, by all means, and let's get on with the Duke and Duchess of York."

(The Duke of York, King Edward's brother, is next in line of succession to the British throne.)

Want Duke of York
"They make no secret of the fact they would like to have the Duke and Duchess of York occupy the thrones," the peer declared.

"The quiet, home loving Duke of York—with his tidy little family (he has two daughters)—would restore the dignity and austerity to Buckingham palace which has been missing since the death of King George."

"There is little doubt that at present nobody knows King Edward's intentions. Probably he will not know himself until he has fully tested the temper of the working class."

They Want Publicity
Some members of the peerage—supported by some of the so-called middle class and certain elements of the Church of England—resent the lack of publicity given by British newspapers on the king's friendship with the American beauty, this informant reported.

Another reliable source disclosed one of the ladies-in-waiting to Queen Mary inquired recently whether there was a possibility of a wedding, as well as a coronation, next spring.

To this same question, Mrs. Simpson herself was declared to have replied:

"How can I answer such a question when it has not even been discussed?"

DANGER OF COMPETITIVE SPORTS STRESSED

School boards of Orange county were urged to consider the dangers of competitive sports for adolescents and to investigate the state board ruling on the subject, in a resolution passed at a meeting of the Fourth District Parent-Teacher association held yesterday at the Anaheim high school auditorium.

Nearly 300 attended the meeting, presided over by Mrs. H. C. Brown. Speakers included Judge E. J. Milne of the Whittier Institute, James Hoffman Batten of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mark Jones, state chairman of school education.

Mrs. W. R. Ward, Anaheim council president introduced J. A.

Clayes, high school superintendent, and G. A. Gauer, grammar school superintendent, who welcomed the group, Mr. W. E. Krupp, vice-president, reported.

During luncheon Mrs. Verne Este, Mrs. H. G. Joost, Mrs. Irvine Frevert, Mrs. C. E. Wood and Mrs. G. E. Smith presented a skit, and Mrs. Smith, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Seeds Spizzy, presented awards on membership and various organization attainments.

Mrs. R. W. Marvin and Mrs. W. T. Kirven spoke briefly on life membership and health resolutions and Mrs. Ruby Goodwin read an article she had written urging that "color and race be considered a distinction rather than a handicap or barrier."

NEW SOCIAL REGISTER OUT Dog Is Missing This Time

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Social Register for 1937, distributed today, gives separate listings to Mrs. Ernest A. Simpson, friend of King Edward, and the husband she recently divorced.

Simpson is listed with his address as the Guards club, London. Mrs. Simpson appears as "Simpson, Mrs. Warfield (Spencer-Wallis Warfield), 16 Cumberland Term, London."

The Simpsons were divorced late in October.

New Yorkers, studying the little black book which has soothed the vanity of hundreds and stirred others to anger or laughter by its can be paid until two years after the state taxes first fall due. This was to allow time for the state to build up its fund and time to set up administrative machinery in the state on an efficient basis.

The state fund must be held in the national treasury, to promote uniform security of its investments, and to avoid necessity for states to liquidate investments on an unfavorable market in times when funds are in demand.

All money withdrawn from the "unemployment trust fund" must be used solely for compensation to those out of work. (Administrative expenses are met by the federal government.)

May Refuse Job
Compensation must not be denied those eligible for benefits for refusing to accept work if the position offered is vacant because of labor dispute, if the wages or hours of the job are less favorable than those prevailing in the locality, or if the man is required to promise to join a company union or to resign from or refrain from joining a "bona fide labor organization."

Finally, the state legislature must be left free to amend or repeal its law.

Within those conditions, the state laws vary widely. Some have pooled compensation funds; others keep individual employer accounts.

The federal tax falls only on the employer, but states can require employer contributions.

8,000,000 Covered Now
It is estimated that almost 8,000,000 workers are now covered by state laws, or about 40 per cent of the total that would be if all states had them. In general, those excluded from the federal pensions, like farm help and public employees, are also excluded from unemployment insurance.

To qualify for the weekly benefits, Mr. Ben and other unemployed must be able to show work record over a period of time that differs in the various states. In New York, it is 90 days in 12 months, or 130 in 24. Then comes a "waiting period," lasting three weeks in Alabama, for example.

Once the benefits begin, they go on for a period depending on how long a man was employed. Usually he gets a week of benefit for each four weeks of employment. The amount under practically all the present state laws is half what his wages were, with a $15 a week maximum.

(Tomorrow: Immediate aids for the needy.)

bland manner in admitting or rejecting names, noted these changes among others.

Leeds Left Out
The omission of William B. Leeds, wealthy sportsman who married Miss Olive Hamilton, a former telephone operator, on May 23.

The inclusion of Gloria Laura Vanderbilt, now old enough to be listed as a junior, a listing given children past 12. Her name appears under the name of her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who won custody of the child—except for week-ends and one summer month—from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morgan Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Vanderbilt herself is listed as "Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt," that is, under her late husband's name.

The name of Mrs. Pauline van der Voort Rogers, widow of Col. Henry H. Rogers, wealthy oil man, has been dropped. Mrs. Rogers has testified in a suit to set aside a will of her dower rights, that she had been tricked into signing it.

The President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt are listed at the White House with their children.

Dog Missing
Conspicuously missing from the new edition is Rose, the Pekinese dog which appeared in the summer edition as a junior, "Miss Rose," under the name of Mr. and Mrs. George L. K. Morris, of Lenox, Mass., and New York.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who have lived in England for the past 12 months, are listed as residents of Englewood, N. J.

The former Miss Marjorie de L. Oelrichs, who married Eddie Duchin, the band leader, is no longer listed.

Also missing is the former Miss Barbara Hutton, now the Princess Haugwitz-Reventlow. She was last listed in 1935 as the Princess Alexis Mdivani.

Suicide Verdict In Russell Death Is Confirmed

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A county autopsy report that Reid Russell came to his death by a "gunshot wound-suicide" was unchanged today after a re-examination of the 28-year-old salesman's body.

Russell, friend of Gouverneur Morris, was found dead in a backyard swing at the novelist's estate Sept. 25. Shot through the head, he clutched a .32 pistol in his hand.

On the theory the pistol may have been "planted," the body was exhumed to check whether the death bullet and the pistol were the same caliber. After measuring the wound last night, Frank Webb, assistant county autopsy surgeon, said it was made by a .32. The bullet left powder burns on the temple, fractured the skull with explosive effect and passed horizontally through the brain.

"My original report of suicide still stands," Webb said.

Banque Misr, at Cairo, is now Egypt's only completely Egyptian bank.

'DANIGER'S' CAFE OPENS TONIGHT

Tonight will see the formal opening of a new venture. A cafe operation for Santa Ana, when "Daniger's," located on the second floor of the Santora building on Broadway, makes debut as a combined luncheon room, tea-room and fashionable dining-spot.

Mrs. J. H. Daniger, long connected with the First National bank, is responsible for the launching of what she feels is a distinct need in the community—a smart, exclusive, and withal popularly-priced restaurant.

With these requirements in mind she has decorated a suite of easily-accessible rooms in the Santora building in a delightfully modern manner. Coral draperies and rug and upholstered divans contrast pleasingly with the off-white walls, tables and chairs, and the striking color combination is carried out even to the Franciscan pottery of the table service. Soft green ferns are the only floral decorations.

A small room, suitable for private dining parties, opens off this main dining hall, both of which are entered through a large tiled foyer. An attractive and practical idea is the smartly furnished card room, which will accommodate luncheon and dinner parties.

Tonight's opening will witness many individual parties, and is by reservation only. Dinner will be served at six and seven-thirty.

Daniger's will specialize in no one kind of food, but its chef, Harry Vines, formerly connected with the University of Idaho, will make everything served, including rolls and pastries.

PASTOR OPENS MEETING OF BAPTISTS

The fortieth annual meeting of the Santa Ana Valley Baptist association was launched yesterday at the Huntington Beach First Baptist church with the Rev. Harry Evan Owings of Santa Ana delivering the opening sermon. He chose as his subject, "Christ's Way—The Crucified Christ."

Well over 100 pastors and delegates representing the congregation-at-large, the Sunday schools, women's societies, young people's societies and men's organizations, participated in the programs and conferences, which extended into the evening.

Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks of Santa Ana was scheduled to give an address on "Atherton Court" at this morning's meeting, while Royce Edson of the local church will act as song-leader tonight. Miss Mary Nalle will present a vocal solo at the closing session, at which the Rev. Fenwick Fowler will speak on "Four Wheels and No Brakes."

Election of association officers, which was to take place this afternoon, will be followed by installation this evening. They will be introduced by the present moderator, the Rev. H. Frederick Sheerer.

Legion Member Dinner Monday

American Legion Auxiliary members will have their annual membership dinner at 6:30 p. m. Monday in the Legion hall. Installation ceremonies will be conducted in the evening by the drill team and sextet for Santa Ana, Newport Beach, Costa Mesa, Placentia, Fullerton and Seal Beach units.

Mrs. Marjorie Peabody of La Habra, district chairman of education, will be the speaker, and Cy Featherly, commander of Santa Ana Legion post, will be a guest.

Reservations for the dinner must be made by tomorrow night with Mrs. Robert Sandon or Mrs. R. H. McCalla.

Keen Competition In Home Business

There's cut-throat competition in the children's home business! At least, Mrs. C. Morris of Garden Grove, thinks so. She runs one of them.

She reported to the sheriff's office that the sign on her place, reading "Sunnyside Home," had been removed by someone and destroyed.

Some competitor did it, she thinks.

Painter Jailed After Collision

After a collision at Sixth and Pacific streets yesterday, Elmer P. Peterson, 30, painter, of 1027 South Main street, was jailed by Santa Ana police on drunk driving charges.

His car collided with an auto driven by Ruth Harriet Anderson, 918 West Sixth street. Neither driver was injured.

Car Clips Part Of Fruit Stand

A driver who didn't bother stopping at a fruit stand, but just took part of it with him, was being sought by sheriff's officers today.

Officers reported a small car had struck the Hosack fruit stand at Westminster, clipped off a power line guy wire, and kept right on going.

NEW BRIDGE EARNS HUGE AMOUNT

Tolls Total $1000 Hour;
Cost May be Paid
in 9 Years

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—The San Francisco-Oakland bridge is earning approximately a thousand dollars an hour around the clock, Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department of public works, said today.

This is more than double the estimated earning and leads to the conclusion that either the traffic has not shrunk as quickly as

EGG DEMAND INCREASES
SACRAMENTO. (AP)—California must be using more eggs this year than last, the federal state market news service indicated today. With a 20 per cent increase in production, the demand was so great this month that prices jumped 5 cents a dozen for large extras.

calculated to a normal basis or that pre-opening estimates were too low.

The department figured a 100 per cent normal level would not be reached until about January or February, but the business the last few days prompts the belief traffic estimates will have to be revised upward very materially.

This is based chiefly on truck traffic which is not bolstered by joyriding or tourist curiosity and is way above estimates.

On the present basis the bridge would pay out in nine years, instead of 20.

FLORIDA BUM BLOCKADE IS WORKING

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida motor patrol, conducting a "border blockade" against penniless transients, estimated that by this week-end it will have shunted from the state 2000 hitchhiking, rod-riding and fliver-driving itinerants.

The second year of the itinerant quarantine has brought a lessened flow of warm-seeking transients, it was said, although comparative figures are lacking. Gov. Dave Sholtz, who ordered the blockade, said about 50,000 were turned back last season.

Railroad inspectors and local officers at border settlements assist the motor patrol. The Florida winter season is not yet under way and a greater number of jobless wanderers are expected with the new year.

The patrol was established to keep persons without funds from entering the state and turning to crime for support, Governor Sholtz said. They are ineligible for state or federal relief.

Stiff Battles Ahead for Italy in Ethiopia

(Editor's Note: The Italo-Ethiopian war isn't over yet. The following story by DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press writer on foreign affairs, describes Italian efforts to subdue unconquered tribes and to develop the country.)

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Premier Mussolini's renewed military drive against the still unconquered native warriors in western and southwestern Ethiopia represents one of the most important phases of his conquest of that ancient African kingdom.

There lie the rich agricultural lands and much of the mineral wealth representing the real prize for which Il Duce has made one of the most daring and sensational gambles in history.

What his armies have done thus far represents to a considerable degree spade-work, much of it performed over the burning wastes of trackless deserts and through thick jungles.

Ready to Fight

It has been preparation for the march into the land of milk and honey which the dictator envisions as a home for millions from Italy's overcrowded cities.

There, too, the Italians may find some of the stiffest fighting which they have encountered. In this zone of towering uplands and deep valleys, powerful chieftains, with thousands of fierce and well-equipped followers, are prepared to defend their birthplace to the death.

The terrain is ideally suited to guerrilla warfare. Military experts say it will be many years before Mussolini can subdue these primitive, liberty-loving fighters.

Much Desert

It is estimated that Ethiopian troops still hold about one-third of the inhabitable territory of the country. Perhaps a third of the conquered area is of little or no value. The worthless land includes the big Ogaden desert in the southeast and the Danakil desert in the northeast.

Eight of the principal chieftains still are operating with little armies said by the Italian general staff to total about 50,000 men. There undoubtedly are numerous other smaller bands roving the mountains.

The latest Italian offensives are directed westward from Addis Ababa toward the British Sudanese border, and southwestward in the direction of British Kenya.

Rich Country

The immediate objective of the push toward the Sudan is the important town of Gore, Ethiopia's "second capital" and gateway to the zone of British influence in the kingdom. Gore, capital of the province of Ill Bahor, is the center of a vast, rich area, famous for its gold, coffee, wax and tropical products.

Some hundred miles directly west of Gore is Gambela, an Ethiopian town but a British station by virtue of the Anglo-Ethiopian treaty of 1902.

Gore and Gambela are linked by a fair road good enough for motor trucks. It is presumed that the Italians, once they have Gore in hand, will push on to Gambela.

British Influence

Should this happen, there will be a delicate question to be settled with the British. The treaty of 1902 gave England the extra-territorial possession of 1000 acres at Gambela on the Baro river.

The Britons built a group of buildings, including a postoffice and a radio station capable of communicating with Europe, and garrisoned the town. Once they had a small river gunboat at Gambela, which is linked to the Nile by a series of tributaries.

For nearly 35 years the British station has been the door for trade between the Sudan and western

FARM INCOME SHOWS GAIN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The agricultural department has reported cash income to farmers from the sale of their products amounted to $754,000,000 in September, 16 per cent more than September last year with all regions showing gains.

Crops brought more money than a year ago in all regions except the west north central, but increased income from sale of livestock there offset the shrinkage, the department said.

Government benefit payments in September amounted to $6,000,000 compared with $57,000,000 last year. For the first nine months of this year, income from farm marketings was reported at $5,224,000,000, a gain of 18 per cent above the $4,380,000,000 received in the first nine months of 1935.

INFANTRY TO BE REORGANIZED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Reorganization into more compact and mobile units of present army infantry divisions has been approved by the army high command and will be given experimental tests next summer looking toward final adoption.

Secretary Woodring announced that improvements made in weapons and transportation since the World war had necessitated the reorganization.

The changes proposed include a reduction in size of infantry divisions to 13,500 men from the present war strength of approximately 22,000, with proportionate reductions in the present sizes of regiments and companies, from which divisions are formed.

FREIGHT RATES TO BE PROBED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A broad investigation of railroad and waterway freight rates throughout the country was ordered yesterday by the interstate commerce commission. The first hearing will be held here Jan. 6.

The transportation tribunal acted as a result of a petition by the principal carriers of the country seeking to retain a portion of the temporary rate increases authorized last year and due to expire at the end of this year.

FAIR BUILDING WORK BEGINS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Construction of the first actual building on the 1930 Golden Gate International exposition site began today with erection of structural steel for one of two airport hangars.

TURKEYS WILL COST LESS

CHICAGO. (AP)—Turkeys for Thanksgiving probably will be a nickel a pound cheaper than last year, Dairy Produce, a trade journal, predicted today.

Retail prices for live birds at Chicago recently ranged around 16 to 17 cents a pound for No. 1 hens and toms. Dressed wholesale quotations were as high as 23 cents. A year ago, dressed prices were 28 cents and went to 30 to 31 cents a few days before Thanksgiving.

Some strengthening in the market was expected by next week, when retail demand becomes apparent, Dairy Produce said.

State to Set Up Cash Basis Fund

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Governor Merriam has authorized the setting up of a $5,000,000 revolving fund as part of the plan to put the state on a cash basis in respect to the payment of salaries and other small claims against the general fund.

The money will be borrowed. The revolving fund will be replenished about once a month through the sale of large block warrants at auctions at which the bidding will be on the rate of interest, as was done recently in the sale of relief warrants.

The governor, Controller Riley, Finance Director Stockburger and Treasurer Johnson who worked out the plan, estimate it will save the state about a million a year in interest. It will go into effect Monday.

BALANCING OF BUDGET IS PLEDGED

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Promises of a balanced California governmental budget shared interest with agricultural labor problems among delegates to the State Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting here today.

Frederick J. Koster, chairman of the chamber's tax committee, reported the 1937 legislature will convene without a problem of providing new income.

His prediction followed a statement by A. E. Stockburger, state finance director, that "the state will emerge from the present biennialism not only with a balanced budget but with a surplus."

The chamber's agricultural section, while withholding details, made known it was developing plans intended to eliminate farm labor strikes.

Boulder dam, world's greatest piece of similar architecture, has been completed.

In San Francisco, the world's greatest bridge has just been finished.

Man is some pumpkins, ain't he? He can figure out on paper, in exact detail, just what he wants in the shape of masonry or architecture, and then go ahead and put it up.

Big things are easy to build like that. Just follow the blueprints of those who "saw" the finished project years before its existence.

But when it comes to self-terment, character building, etc., all too often we fail to follow the blueprints of those who have had experience and know the end from the beginning.

So when we look at Boulder dam, or the San Francisco bridge, we figure we are some pumpkins. But when we look around us, and in the mirror, we're pretty small potatoes. What was it Job said, "What is man that thou art mindful of him?"

Must Explain Election Errors

RIVERSIDE, (AP)—Discrepancies in tally sheets, the Riverside county supervisors ordered, must be explained by the clerks of five election boards in Riverside, Palm Springs, Corona, Moreno and Glen Avon.

Officers of state assemblyman and senator were involved, but District Attorney Earl Redwine said the questioned votes were few.

To Dismiss Suit Against Coughlin

CLEVELAND, (AP)—Attorney B. F. Sacharow, counsel for John H. O'Donnell, of Pittsburgh, announced civil actions brought here and in Detroit against the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin and his National Union for Social Justice, have been dropped.

in number and could not change the election results.

WOULDN'T LET YANKEES SEE CORONATION

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative Cannon (Dem.-Wis.) has announced he would seek to prevent United States diplomats from taking any part in the coronation ceremonies "and the marriage ceremony of the King of England."

Cannon said he would offer a resolution in the opening session of congress, requesting the President to prohibit participation in the ceremonies by "our ambassadors and other representatives of our government."

In mentioning the king's "proposed marriage to an American divorcee," the resolution referred to Edward's friend, Mrs. Wallis Simpson, Cannon said. The name was not used directly in the lengthy document he had prepared.

Chief reason given by Cannon for the proposed boycott was that "England is a defaulting debtor to the United States" and "a debtor has no right to waste huge sums of money for needless display and harmful propaganda without even attempting to pay his debts."

"The marriage of the King of England is of no moment to us," the resolution asserted, "and the fact that he marries a former American citizen is likewise of no significance."

Willard Junior High News

Laird Iiams of Mr. Froeschle's L-7 general science class has completed the difficult feat of making a sulphur match. During the past two weeks the class has been studying fire and its many uses. The students have been studying lessons out of a new book, "My Own General Science Problems" by Hunter and Whitman, and have been answering questions from a work-book.

The L-7 class has been studying mechanics and machines, according to Mr. Froeschle. Analyzing a bicycle and an automobile have been included with the study of levers and simple devices.

Willard's sewing classes will be very busy for the next few weeks. Miss Greene, teacher of the eighth and ninth grade sewing classes, stated recently.

The eighth grade class has just completed school uniforms, which they are justly proud of, and are now starting on pajamas. Toward the end of last quarter they made black pickaninny felt dolls to hold string. The other eighth grade class is finishing slips and aprons and will start on beach or tennis outfits. They have also made felt dolls for balls of string.

The two ninth grade sewing classes have finished sleeping or lounging pajamas and are working on dresses.

Miss Greene teaches the eighth and ninth grade classes, while Mrs. Meeks teaches the seventh grade class.

One of the biggest volleyball seasons in the history of the school has just been completed with the championship game played Nov. 12. It was a fast and furious game showing good team work on the part of the eighth and ninth grade teams. After the score staying close during the whole game the eighth grade finally came through with a score of 41 to 31.

Helen Butler and Helen Holzgrafe are the girls that made some outstanding serving. Helen Butler is the captain of the championship team and the members are Betty Crawford, Constance Halsey, Helen Gomez, Helen Holzgrafe, Geneva Sawyer and Joy Crouse.

There were 60 seventh graders, 45 eighth graders and 65 ninth grade girls out for the 1936 volleyball season. The captains for the seventh grade teams were Marilyn Bear, Betty Hawkins and Janet Coffing. The eighth grade captains are Helen Butler, Irma Youel and Betty Jo Froeschle. The ninth grade captains are Lilian Breaux, June Tway, Lucille Crawford and Isabelle Relistab.

It has always been the policy of the "Willard Echo" to exchange papers with other junior high schools all over the country. To date the "Echo" has received 88 papers, representing 17 states and Hawaii.

These papers come in all sizes, the largest from Spokane, Wash., and the smallest from York, Pa. The news is of many kinds ranging from dances to graduation. Most of these papers are printed in school print shops, but there are still a few which are mimeographed.

The boys tennis tournament is in "full swing" today. Bill Hull in the lead and Carl Downs, second. However anything can happen, as many of the boys got off to a very poor start and are "making it hot" for the leaders. Ralston Anderson, David Carmichael and John Blower are other leaders of the tournament. Many other boys are in this contest, but they do not have the ability or luck that the leaders have.

The typing department of Willard will for the next few weeks, be in quite a state of turmoil. According to Mrs. Wright, typing instructor, typists will have accuracy drills every day to keep in practice and then once or twice a week will have contests to determine if they are eligible for certificates.

The requirements in the beginning typing class are an average rate of at least 15 words per minute, five or less errors all five minutes time. The requirements for the advanced typists are an average of 25 net words per minute, five or less errors, while they have 15 minutes time to do their typing in.

Mrs. Wright stated, "I am very well pleased with this year's typing class and I believe many students will receive certificates."

"It is my aim in business training to teach the value and appreciation of thrift; to provide that knowledge which every one must have in order to properly manage his own personal business affairs; to give such information about

Willard Names Decathlon Champs

The boys decathlon champions for this quarter at the Willard school have been announced by Coach Lund. Decathlon consists of 10 different events in track and field and gymnastics, to test each person's athletic ability.

In division B, James Wilson managed to win in a close contest, with 1330 points.

In the C division Jack Parton finished ahead in a hard-fought contest and finished with 1177 points.

While the bigger boys were battling it out, Joe Lara came through in the D division for a total of 1092 points.

Division E was won by George Platt with a total of 943 points. In the F division little Freddy Rosenbaum came through far ahead of the others with 980 points. He no doubt is the best athlete for his size in the school.

those major services which are utilized in the daily life of every person regardless of his vocation to provide an exploration of commercial life so that the student may discover if he possesses or lacks native business ability for success in the business world; also to provide some knowledge of business for the non-commercial student."

This is a quotation by Mrs. Lucy Wright instructor for Willard business training classes. The student is provided with a folder containing material in connection with a business training text book, in which he uses all business forms in common use today, handled in connection with live transactions. In this type of work the student uses all types of fundamental arithmetic and it gives him a chance to use his initiative and imagination.

Willard's Girl Scout troop has had the good fortune of being invited to hold their meetings in the recently acquired Scout house on Riverside street, which is conveniently near the school. The girls held their first meeting there Wednesday, Nov. 18. Plans were discussed for cleaning and furnishing the house. Some of these plans are to be carried out at the next meeting. The largest part of the meeting was spent in studying and passing various tests.

The ninth grade cooks have been very busy in the past few weeks.

F. D. R. URGES INCREASING OF WAGES

WASHINGTON, (AP)—In a letter read to the business advisory council yesterday, President Roosevelt suggested that the group of business men study "the problem of improving wages and working conditions of employees in industry."

Secretary Roper read the letter to the council, which made suggestions on government policy toward industry to the commerce department.

Other Suggestions As other problems for study, Mr. Roosevelt also suggested consideration be given to "further absorption of workers by private industry" and to improving living conditions of low income groups "through low cost housing and slum clearance."

Expressing appreciation for the council's services, the chief executive continued: "We will, I hope, pass into the next period of our administration by looking to a wise and more equitable balancing of the interrelated segments composing our economic and social life."

"Study of Trends Vital" "Economic and social betterment hinges upon a continuous study of trends, such as are reflected in human thought and action of our society."

"Study and analysis of these trends are a vital preliminary to the adoption of plans and procedures best suited to meet modern conditions."

They have been planning practical menus, and have given several practice luncheons. Their purpose was to get practical experience in planning a menu, ordering, buying and serving. The results were very enjoyable according to Miss Ritz, instructor. The girls taking part were Virginia Adams, Lucille Andrew, Lillian Breaux, Mary Catherine Friend, Lois Greene, Edmondy Jeanes, Audrey Johnson, Alida La Flam, Lenore Lukins, Jean Hurlbelle, Mamie Iley, Irene Inman, Geraldine Johnston, Phyllis Kinney, Mary Alice Laughlin, Bertha Ortiz, Josephine Reuter, Wanda Sinner and Jeanette Wooster.

When GRANDMOTHER Used to DRINK . . . GINGER BEER

Yes . . . these warm days remind me of Bermuda and how Grandmothers used to serve Ginger Beer, their favorite drink on this island. Of course Ginger Beer is non-alcoholic, being made from the root of the ginger plant, and might be compared to our ginger ale. The children enjoyed this ginger beer and especially so as it came in odd shaped bottles such as elephants, dogs, ducks and even penguin shapes. But this does not tell you about my business, or in fact some really interesting values that even my Bermuda friends—who are famous for their bargaining powers—would want to buy . . . for example, these watches and silverware.

AGED NEGRO WILL 'TRAVEL' 71 Years in Two-Mile Circle

SOUTH HILL, Va. (AP)—"Uncle Jack" Hamilton decided today it was about time he enlarged a bit on the two-mile circle in which he has spent 71 of his 87 years as a church-going, tobacco-raising south side Virginia negro.

"I feels a cravin' to see dem street cars," he confessed to a member of the South Hill Lions club.

So the club will take him to Richmond and show him not only street cars but elevators and escalators.

Born 10 miles east of South Hill, Uncle Jack lived with his old master, Eden J. Moseley, until he was 16. Then he settled at his present home and confined himself for 71 years to the same triangle—church, home, market.

F. D. R. TRIP TO CITY TO SET RECORD

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt's 12,000-mile ocean voyage to Buenos Aires will just about set up a good claim to the title of "most traveled president." White House attaches estimated that the South American trip would bring the chief executive's travel log during his first term of office to about 88,000 miles, as compared with 65,000 covered by President Taft, his closest competitor.

Theodore Roosevelt traveled about 60,000 miles, while President Wilson's two voyages abroad brought his total to approximately 50,000.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Construction of a new ocean liner, to replace the laid-up Leviathan in operating with the Washington and Manhattan, is proposed by the United States lines in an application for a construction subsidy which awaits study by the maritime commission.

The request will be given prompt attention, officials said, using preliminary studies of construction standards and cost of the proposed vessel made by the old shipping board bureau.

TAX REVENUE FARM BUREAU PROSPECTS SCANNED

Treasury Attempts to Forecast Funds as Business Improves

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The recent wave of dividend declarations and wage increases is being scanned by treasury experts attempting to forecast tax revenues.

Officials said revised estimates of tax receipts for this fiscal year now are being drafted for inclusion in President Roosevelt's budget message to congress, and that it was possible these might be lifted upward by the present business surge.

Dividends Large

They added, however, that no material changes in earlier forecasts were expected, because these took into consideration the possibility of heavy dividend and wage outlays by corporations faced with new levies on undistributed profits.

With special and regular dividend declarations well over the $500,000,000 mark and with annual wage increases totaling upward of $125,000,000 announced in recent weeks, officials centered attention on prospective income tax receipts.

Receipts from income levies, which would largely reflect the present flood of cash outlays, now are estimated at $2,303,363,000 for this fiscal year, but this figure probably will be revised in the forecast now being compiled.

Buying Power Aids

Increased buying power by the nation's workers and stockholders also may be expected to pour more revenue into the treasury through other tax channels, officials said, citing the possibility of increases in levies on tobacco, beverages, gasoline, amusements and the like.

On the basis of business prospects then apparent, President Roosevelt estimated in September that the 1936 revenue act, carrying the taxes on undistributed profits, would provide $552,000,000 a year. This estimate included both expected income from the profits levy and anticipated increases in income tax profits resulting from heavier corporate dividends.

Secretary Morgenthau told a recent press conference the recent widespread dividend and wage outlays would provide revenue "about in line" with that estimate.

TELLS OF LIFE IN NEAR EAST

Members of the junior forum class at Santa Ana Junior college were addressed by Taufik Aboosh, native of the Near East, Wednesday afternoon.

Aboosh, who for many years has been a guide to tourists visiting Palestine, discussed the problems of the Near East. He spoke from his own personal experiences. He has been an American citizen for the past 28 years.

Only getting two years of actual schooling himself, Aboosh pointed out the advantages that students of America have over those in the Near East where only 2 per cent of the natives can read or write. Most of the schools, he said, were run by American missionaries.

In talking of the world depression in relation to Palestine, he said, "Palestine has not felt the depression."

Between 11,000 and 12,000 square miles of Palestine are planted to oranges, lemons and grapefruit. With this they are competing with California citrus growers, he said.

Aboosh was introduced by Dean Calvin C. Flint, who is also instructor for the junior forum class.

Comus Club Has Lovely Formal Dance At The Orange American Legion Hall

Red Berries Deck Ball Room

Yule Dance and Gift Exchange Planned For December

Creation of a winter holiday atmosphere as a setting for their November formal, hosts for Comus club last night used bright sprays of catenae berries as their chief decorative theme.

The dance was held as usual in the American Legion clubhouse at Orange, its lounge gay with artistic arrangements of the berries, and the same wintry note prevailing in the ballroom.

Branches of berries encircled the lights and chandeliers, and a background of them was arranged on the stage where the orchestra played.

Programs were in evidence, but the dances were mixed up by the orchestra so that the dancers did not know until just before the music started what number would be next, adding to the merriment of the evening.

Punch was served throughout the evening at a table set in a prettily decorated corner of the hall. Hosts for the club last night were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bemis, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. Bus McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mitchell.

In December, the club will have a Christmas tree at its dance on the seventeenth, and the members will exchange Yule gifts. Election of officers will usher in the new year, taking place at the January dance, it is announced.

Mrs. Mitchell wore a blue pebbly crepe gown with accents of silver. Mrs. McCoy was in a black crepe with brilliant, and Mrs. Bemis in a green taffeta. Mrs. Fernandez, the other hostess, was not able to be present.

Several parties preceded the dance, one of the largest a gathering of 42 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kaufman, 901 Lowell street, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Givens, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Briggs, and Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman as hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dickey were hosts to 16 at their home on French street, their guests including the Messrs. and Mesdames Fred Merker, Carl Edgar, Bruce Monroe, Lyle Anderson, John Cannon, and John Kinyon, and Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Sherrard.

Another of the smaller parties was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harrison on Helio-trope drive.

MOCK WEDDING AT ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Forty-fifth wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Mike Elliste, 132 North Waverly street, Orange, was occasion for a surprise celebration this week, when children of the honored couple arranged a party at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. August Elliste, August Elliste presided as master of ceremonies.

Grandchildren of the couple entertained with vocal and instrumental music, and presented a dramatic skit, and a mock wedding was given by the sons and daughters. The part of the bride was enacted by Emma Elliste White, the bridegroom by Seth Muench, and the minister by Paul G. Muench.

The Ellistes were married Nov. 17, 1891, at Stuttgart, Kan., coming to Orange county in 1907. History of their early years was given by Seth Muench; and a life-long friend, William Priess, told of the part Mr. Elliste has taken in civic, church and club affairs, having served as an elder of St. John's Lutheran church for many years. Tribute was also paid by Mrs. G. Dierker and Mrs. Charles Borchard. Many gifts were presented Mr. and Mrs. Elliste.

CLUB ENJOYS EVENING OF FANCYWORK

Mrs. James W. Dickson was hostess to her card club Wednesday night, entertaining the group at her home, 334 Harwood Place.

Because of the nearness of Christmas the group of friends substituted needlework for the usual bridge, planning to devote the time between now and the holidays to working on Christmas gifts.

Pleasant chat with the sewing filled the evening, and at the close Mrs. Dickson served a dainty supper on pottery at one table centered with yellow and orange chrysanthemums and gourds.

Guests were Mrs. Roberta Mercer, Mrs. Willard Swarthout, Mrs. Harold Carnahan, Mrs. Clifford Cole, Mrs. Clyde Tattson, Mrs. Raymond Marsie, and Mrs. Oscar Carothers.

Teachers in Hard Time Frolic

Willard faculty members had their first fall party Wednesday evening, dancing hard time costumes and wending their way out to the ranch of August Elliste near Anaheim for the affair.

Miss Helen Glancy of the faculty group and Frank Stewart, a guest from Long Beach, outwitted all the others when it came to choosing the right kind of costumes and each won a handsome prize for the most original garb.

To Norman Hicks, another of the teachers, went the prize for the best impromptu stunt.

Dancing was the evening's chief diversion until the supper hour, when the strangely costumed group adjourned to the backyard and cooked their suppers over an open stove.

Mrs. Vera Allen headed the general committee in charge of arrangements, with Mrs. Vivian Meek in charge of finances, Mrs. Evelyn Minge, entertainment; Mrs. Louise Wright, refreshments; Mrs. Marian Libby, decoration, and Robert Horn, transportation.

Guests at the party, in addition to the faculty members, were Mrs. Norman Hicks, Mrs. Robert Horn, Mrs. Arthur Nisewanger, Mrs. W. H. Eracewell, Mrs. Lowell Schmid, Frank Stewart of Long Beach, Percy Budd, Lawrence Minge, Ellsworth Weakley and J. W. Getty.

THREE SPEAKERS ON EDISON PROGRAM

Announcement of the awarding of prizes in an essay contest of 700 entries to Anne Glotz and Josephine Hodson, two of their members, was a delightful surprise feature at Tuesday night's meeting of the Orange County Edison Women's committee. Miss Glotz's essay was given first prize and Miss Hodson's third.

The committee met Tuesday evening in the Santa Ana hotel, Mary Belle Adams presiding over the business session which was followed by a program under direction of Cora McGuire, chairwoman of the interclub relations committee.

A. B. Maeder, commercial cooking specialist for the Edison company, addressed the members on his line of work; and R. E. Bacon, division manager, also talked, reading a paper by W. L. Frost, c.c.m.p. vice-president, which outlined 48 points essential to successful employees.

Chief speaker of the evening was Mary M. Thompson, street floor buyer at Rankins, who gave a talk and demonstration on proper make-up and care of the face. The Thanksgiving motif was carried out during the refreshment period, a long table centered with a bowl of fruit and pumpkin pie and coffee being served buffet style.

Special guests, in addition to the speakers of the evening, were Violet Doane and Virginia Davis, traveling comptometer operators. The Dec. 8 meeting will be in charge of the benevolence committee with Olive Lund as chairman, assisted by Dorothy Rose, Young, Anna Tiemann, and Dolly Alvord.

CONTRACT TAKES PLACE OF GOLF ON WINDY DAY

Driving out to the country club for a morning on the greens yesterday, a group of Santa Ana women golfers found the wind too strong for play and instead went inside the clubhouse and whiled away the hours at contract bridge.

Stopping for a delicious luncheon at noon, they again took up their contract games, and the day's play resulted in the awarding of prizes to Mrs. Paul Hall, first, and Mrs. Don Andrews, second. Mrs. R. W. Weston won a putting contest in which all participated at the close of the afternoon.

Others enjoying the informal day together were the Mesdames E. H. Guthrie, Dean Campbell, J. L. McFadden, Roy Langley, and Harry Bakre.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Pirates' treasure was unearthed for Miss Elsiebell Hurd, December bride-elect, when two of her friends, Miss Opal Ross, and Mrs. Lorene Graves, entertained for her at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hurd Tuesday evening.

The guests, invited to "find Captain Kidd's treasure chest," came dressed as pirates and spent the early part of the evening playing "Monopoly" in a serpentine decked room.

Mrs. Charles Hurd received first prize at the close, a pottery teapot, and Mrs. Gertrude Warren, low, a bag of jelly beans, both awards wrapped in gleaming tin foil to carry out the treasure motif.

For the dessert course, while Miss Hurd was showing gifts from her showers to the guests, the hostesses spread the small tables with blue and silver paper edged in bright bands of serpentine, and placed them end to end to form one long table. In the center, silver candles in tin foil holders formed gleaming decoration; and favors at the places were tin foil bags of candies and nuts with names of guests written on little silver swords attached to these.

The guest of honor found her place by means of a chart which directed her to find Captain Kidd and move him to find her treasure. She discovered both in a chest in front of her at the table. Her gift was real pieces of silver, presented by her friends with instructions to buy what she wants for her hope chest and her new home.

After refreshments were served, each guest presented her tiny sword place card to Miss Hurd, who stuck them with gold sealing on her pirate's map as a memento of the lovely party. Miss Brownlow made the favors and all the appointments.

Guests participating in the treasure party were Mrs. Charles Hurd, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. Ethel Hutchinson, mother of Miss Brownlow, who assisted in the serving; Elsie Millman, Henriette Stowell, Katherine Brooker, Blanche Hackleton, Gertrude Warren, Vincenia Hill, and Ruth Miller, Etta Lounsbury, Lavonne Hill, Berta LaFerne, Bessie Tinkler, Maude Lathrum, and Margaret Meyers, and the guest of honor and two hostesses.

Mrs. Wolfe served refreshments at the close of the day to the following members: Mrs. T. E. Deane, Mrs. Carol Neiswanger, and the Mesdames Henrietta Foster, Peggy Adams, Ada McFadden, Sarah Southwick, Lella Thrasher, and Alberta Metzgar, and to four guests, Miss Hart, Mrs. Edwin Palmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Griggs. Frank Trujillo of 820 East Adams street was surprised one evening this week when Mrs. Trujillo invited a few of his friends for a birthday party.

Having always celebrated on November 16 until recently when he found his birth certificate showing the day to be November 26, Mr. Trujillo was completely surprised when his wife chose the former date for the informal celebration.

A Spanish supper was followed by dancing, and later in the evening, Miss Agnes Trujillo, daughter of the honored guest, cut the birthday cake and served it with syrups, fruits and coffee. Gifts were presented to Mr. Trujillo, and those gathering to help him celebrate were Henry Camarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Castaneda and baby daughter, Margarita Emily, and Esperanza Gomez and the Trujillo family.

Mary Stoddard Says Youth's Birthright Was Sold for a Mess of Pottage

By MARY STODDARD

Why should we blame today's youth for its arrogance, its selfishness, its seeming indifference? There's a reason for everything. What is the reason for the youth problem? "They've been denied their heritage," exclaims a reader. "Older men have sold out their sons and daughters for a mess of pottage," he adds. He explains point-blank statements in the following letter.

Several parties have already been given in Los Angeles and at the Harbor Yacht club at Wilmington for the visitors, and Mrs. Bowen and Mrs. Steinberger have been included in the courtesies.

Centering the large table, which was spread with a lace cloth, was an arrangement of bright gourds, persimmons, red peppers, grapes and Virginia creeper leaves turned to the autumn shades, and et either end rust-colored tapers.

After the contract games, Mrs. Huntley received a pretty prize for high score, and guest awards were given to the honored guests.

Sharing Mrs. Bowen's and Mrs. Steinberger's hospitality were the Mesdames Gertrude Huntley, George Bowen and Reita Boyle, all of Los Angeles; Mrs. Fred Keeler of Westwood, Mrs. Devalen Allen of Long Beach, and the honor guests.

Parsonage Is Scene Of Teas

Marking completion of a campaign of redecorating and renovating the parsonage carried on by the Dorcas society and the house committee of the First Methodist church, the two groups held open house in the parsonage Tuesday afternoon and evening.

As the guests arrived, they were taken through the home where new broadloom carpets throughout the downstairs, freshly painted woodwork, a new tile sink in the kitchen, and new furnishings in many of the rooms presented an attractive picture.

Assisting Mrs. George Warner, wife of the pastor, in receiving were Mrs. E. R. Childs, president of the Dorcas society, and Mrs. G. E. Bruns, during the afternoon, and Mrs. E. C. Franson and Mrs. John Bowers in the evening.

Presiding at the pretty tea table in the afternoon receiving hours were Mesdames J. W. Estes, R. I. Matthews, J. W. McCormac, R. R. Lutes, John Wehrly, sr., and T. A. Winbiger, and in the evening, Mrs. John Wehrly, jr., and Mrs. Howard Taylor.

Orchid chrysanthemums centered the table, which was set with yellow chinaware, and 175 visitors took tea during the day.

Members of the house committee, who cooperated with Mrs. Childs and the Dorcas society in the redecorating work, are the Messrs. A. J. Lasby, E. W. Smith, T. P. Douglas, E. A. Noe, and Edwin Childs.

Last Friday, Mrs. Warner held open house to 80 members of the Dorcas group, serving tea to the guests with the assistance of Mrs. A. H. Theal and Mrs. F. E. Earel, who poured, and Mesdames Howard Taylor, Gilbert Brown, Fred Wager, and Miss Mary Lamb, who assisted in other hostess duties.

PLAY REVIEWS ON SECTION PROGRAM

"First Lady," by George S. Kaufman and Katharyn Dayton, was reviewed by Mona Summers Smith for members of Junior Ebel's second book review section this week when they met at the home of Mrs. Roscoe Conklin at 2457 Heliott Drive, with Mrs. Lee Smith, Miss Ruth Bradley, and Mrs. Conklin as co-hostesses.

Refreshments were served at the close from a table centered with pink and yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles.

For their next meeting, Dec. 15, the members will meet with Miss Muriel Matzen, 2425 Riverside Drive, with Mrs. Hubert Gohres and Mrs. Quentin Matzen as co-hostesses.

Attending this week's meeting were the Mesdames Charles Weber, Lyle Kelley, Robert Smith, John Newman, Dan Park, Hubert Gohres, Walter Bacon, John McCoy and Quentin Matzen; Misses Muriel Matzen, Thelma Johnson, Alberta Greene, Jean Hamilton, Betty Jane Moore, Sada May Macaulay, Helen Knox, Ruth Fitz, Marian Brownridge, Mary Nalle, Harriet Rutan, Anne Hilton, Natalie Neff, Betty Smedley, Mary Blakeham, Ruth Campbell, Frances Knudson, and Rowena Newcomb, and the three hostesses.

TURKEY DINNER FOR BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB

Wrycende Maegden members heard an interesting talk and saw a reel of moving pictures when they met Tuesday night at the Y. W. C. A. rooms with Mrs. Edna Hewitt Smith of the Orange County Tuberculosis association as speaker. Miss Elsie Stinson was chairman for the evening.

During the business session, postponement of the house party until January was announced; and Miss Genevieve Humiston, advisor, outlined the welfare project which will be headed by Miss Rose Ethel Lesh.

Next Tuesday night, the girls will have a Thanksgiving turkey dinner at the hall, making reservations by Monday noon. Miss Caroline Cushing is in charge.

DRILL TEAM SPONSORING DANCE

Cancelling its November business meeting, American Legion Auxiliary drill team is concentrating plans now on the Thanksgiving eve dance next Wednesday night, which is open to the public, and to its own Christmas party to be held December 18 at the home of Rosanne Hardcastle, the team president.

All are invited to the informal dance Nov. 25 in the Legion hall, arrangements for which are in the hands of Mrs. Lucille Sullivan, chairman, Mrs. Irene Pierce, and Mrs. Alice Roehm. Proceeds are to be used for drill team equipment.

The Friday Afternoon

By DONALD BUTTON

Last week San Francisco dedicated a great bridge.

In commemoration there were many special art exhibitions throughout Frisco. This true co-operation within a great city.

Civic pride in the Southland is largely left to realtors and chamber of commerce booklets.

In Orange county we now stress home-making advantages to newcomers. We perhaps overlook one project that would both invite new residents, strengthen civic pride. We should have a county art association.

Physical factors considered, this means a group in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton beside the already-effective Laguna Beach association.

Each unit ought to sponsor its own downtown gallery, available to the public through the day and evening, its local artists. Each center should likewise prepare exhibits to share with the other groups.

In Santa Ana we took a step toward that end last week with the showing of prints by Jean Goodwin at the Alquist book store on North Main street.

Public interest in this venture has been indicated by the large attendance upon it throughout the week.

We (Alquist and I) hope to hold, maintain, that interest through offering a new show each week.

Regular attendance and interest in a gallery, I contend, are best stimulated by a downtown location, open through the day and evening, and once-a-week changing of exhibitions.

Beginning tomorrow, we will show the paintings of Katherine Knox for one week.

Mrs. Knox has honored us by allowing us to use her latest flower painting. It reveals her at her best—warm, rich color under control. Her painting has a new depth. Watch it!

We find the public memory short-lived!

Jean Goodwin and Arthur Ames have, the past two months, offered a sketching class (on costume model) Thursday nights at Willard school.

I go. But many of my fellows do not, either because they have forgotten it or did not know of it. So, I take this way of reminding them.

Those whose expression-time has to be limited will find the regularity of it helpful. Under such competent instruction it is a great opportunity.

Sufficient interest shown, the Thursday night class will open a special section for those interested in still-life painting.

In addition to value received, those Thursday nights are worth the fellowship of others interested in the creative arts.

NEEDLE WORK CLUB GATHERS THIS AFTERNOON

Mrs. John Talbott extended the hospitality of her home at 710 Maybury street this afternoon to members of her needlework club, this group of long-time friends enjoying needlework and chat and delicious light refreshments served at the close.

Mrs. Talbott served on small tables centered with yellow button chrysanthemums, the places marked by yellow nut cups for the Mesdames E. B. Sprague, D. A. Bear, Frank Preston, J. F. Hill, C. H. Baird, J. C. Winans, George Lewis, J. R. Moore, John Daneri, Miss Robbie Jones, and Miss Leslie Smith, and the hostess.

TWO PRESIDE FOR SORORITY

Misses Marcene Cook and Louise Pee entertained Kappa Delta Phi, pledges and guests Tuesday night at a dinner and bridge evening at El Favorito cafe, all finding places at one table set with pottery and appointed in the Mexican motif.

Prizes at the close of the evening went to Miss Estelle Schlesinger, Miss Madeline Crumley and Mrs. Katherine Pangle. Others present were the Misses Joanne Schotte, Jean Gaspar, Louise Pee, Marcene Cook and Vivian Van Norman, and Mesdames Dorothy Stark and Charles Woodfill, members; Miss Hazel Coleman, Mrs. Caretha Stubbs, Miss Flor-etta Harman and Miss Grace Wootton, pledges, and Mrs. Zue Nelson, a guest. Mrs. Pangle was also a guest.

WORDS THEME OF LECTURE

Words are like people, some with family feeling, some becoming separated from their families and going off in different directions, all originating in ways similar to persons and having similar theories of evolution and the divine theory of creation, Thomas H. Glenn of the junior college English department told Ebel book review section in a talk on "Wayward Words" at their meeting this week.

After his talk, Mrs. Perry Lewis, assisted by Mesdames C. H. Howland, E. M. Nealley, and F. W. Stanley, served tea. The section will meet next on December 15 and will hear book reviews by Mrs. Leslie Kimmel, president of Laguna Beach Woman's club.

TO VISIT PLANETARIUM

Junior Sunday school boys of the First Congregational church will visit Griffith Park planetarium Sunday, leaving from the church after the morning services and taking lunches to eat at the park.

GREAT KRUPP GUN WORKS BUSY NOW

ESSEN, Germany. (P)—The historic Krupp Gun works, celebrated its 125th anniversary today, busier than at any time since the World war.

Bonuses were distributed to former employees and their widows to symbolize the Krupp family's recognition of the workers' share in the creation and development of the vast enterprise which began in 1811 as a small steel foundry. The payroll now includes more than 100,000 workers (in the World war there were 171,000) and one of the most pressing problems is the shortage of skilled labor.

The fever hospital at Omagh, northern Ireland, is to be enlarged.

PILGRIM FATHERS SCORED They Made Turkeys Go Wild

WASHINGTON. (P)—The government has pointed an accusing finger at the Pilgrim fathers and said they drove the American turkey wild.

When the Pilgrims landed, said Col. H. P. Sheldon of the Biological Survey bureau, the original American gobbler "was a very tame bird."

He would come right out of the woods and approach the Pilgrims, who would promptly knock him dead with a club. (Colonel Sheldon scoffs at stories of Pilgrims hunting turkeys with blunderbusses; he says powder and shot were too expensive to waste on a bird that could be clubbed.)

But soon the surviving wild turkeys learned their lesson. They began to avoid man, and now they are extremely hard to bag. Among the millions of birds on the nation's Thanksgiving tables next week, only a few will be of the wild variety. All others will be of domesticated stock.

MELLON DONATION LARGE
PITTSBURGH. (P)—Andrew W. Mellon has given the Pittsburgh Community fund today $125,000, a sum campaign leaders declared they believed to be the largest donated by any individual to a Community Chest in the United States. The former secretary of the treasury gave the same amount last year and $115,000 in 1934.

CONVICTION OF NORRIS VOID

ST. LOUIS. (P)—The conviction of Grocer George W. Norris on a charge of perjury in the United States senate's investigation of his candidacy against Senator George W. Norris in the 1930 Nebraska primary was reversed by the eighth district United States circuit court of appeals yesterday.

The court's ruling, which remanded the case to the district court at Lincoln, Neb., for a new trial, was made in an opinion prepared by District Judge Charles B. Fais.

The opinion, without going directly to the question of Norris' guilt or innocence, held the trial court had failed to submit to the jury the question whether the Broken Bow, Neb., grocer had or had not, purged himself of perjury by a later statement correcting testimony he had first given to a senate investigating committee.

DON'T MISS THIS GREAT FAMILY FITNESS SPECIAL

YOUR grocer appreciates that foods help keep you well. He is supported by modern medical practice, which says that proper diet is even more important than drugs in maintaining physical fitness.

To help your family keep at their best, your grocer offers this week the FAMILY-FITNESS Special: . . . ALL-BRAN and Prunes. They're delicious together. And so good for you.

Be sure you take advantage of this combination offer. Avoid common constipation—with its headaches, loss of appetite, listlessness. Just eat two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily. Three times daily, in severe cases. Serve as a cereal or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. How much better to use this food in place of weakening pills and drugs!

Put the ALL-BRAN and Prune Special on your grocery list for today. ALL-BRAN is made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

1 In combating "colds" and other winter infections, a healthy body is better than umbrellas or overshoes. But so many folks let constipation put them in a "run-down" condition—a prey to winter's germs.

2 ALL-BRAN CLEANS LIKE A WATER-SOFTENED SPONGE. Make this simple test yourself. Fill a glass 4/5 full of ALL-BRAN. Pour water up to the brim of the glass. Soak 15 minutes, and drain off the water. Feel the water-soaked mass. It's much like a wet sponge. Within the body, this soft "bulk" gently exercises intestinal muscles, and sponges out the system. In fact, laboratory tests* show that ALL-BRAN absorbs at least twice its weight in water.

*Tests made by Samuel P. Sadler & Son, Inc., Analytical Chemists, Philadelphia, Pa.

KITCHEN FOR EASY WORK DEVELOPED

By MRS. RUTH EBB

It's natural for the General Electric Company to be interested in the "electric kitchen" as a complete working unit. As manufacturers of the finest refrigerators, electric ranges and dishwashers, they realize that the arrangement of these appliances in the kitchen is important. Certainly there must be an ideal kitchen in which these modern appliances could benefit the homemaker to the greatest possible degree.

No study that could be called scientific had been made of this problem. The deeply interesting points of how many hours per day you spend in your kitchen and how far you walk in it each day, how many times you stoop down to hunt pans in the back of cupboards, or reach to high shelves for dishes, how many steps and motions in the making of a cake, how many bumped heads on cupboard shelves, and how many serious accidents in the kitchen was not known. No effort had been made to apply the labor saving principles that are in current use in the factories and offices of today.

To study and to establish standards that you can apply to your own kitchen, the General Electric Company created a kitchen planning department. It is staffed with architects and home economics experts.

Survey Is Made

Beginning with a carefully selected group of old model kitchens, exact measurements were made of the time and effort used by the homemaker in her household work. About 80 per cent of her working hours were spent in the kitchen and she averaged slightly less than four miles a day of walking in it. Of her work in the kitchen, about 25 per cent was in constructive things and the balance in keeping this room and the things that went through it, clean.

The room itself was almost impossible to keep clean, with cracks and corners where dirt would collect. A step toward a kitchen necessity, and pots and pans were hidden in base cupboards so that usually others had to be moved before you could find the one you wanted. Work surfaces were low, or high, and never provided the space needed for you to work uncrowded. Lighting was poor, especially at night. Appliances were placed where "there was wall space" and the kitchen was made of that space that could not be used for other rooms, or "what was left."

To recommend itself to you, the General Electric kitchen must save time and effort and must provide better working conditions.

An analysis of kitchen purposes and activities shows that they break into four closely related groups. They are in order: First, food storage and preservation; second, food preparation; third, cooking and serving; fourth, cleaning. Adequate provision must be made for each, and proper consideration given to making them a complete unit. Size—enough to make a pantry unnecessary—depends on the number in the family and the amount of entertaining done.

The General Electric Company had the finest modern electric appliances for the basic units in this kitchen.

First, the refrigerator with its clear record of stability and the lowest cost of operation of any refrigerator on the market. Next, by combining the food preparation and the cleaning of dishes into one department, we can use our electric dishwasher as the central unit. This appliance will save almost two hours a day of the most disagreeable work in the kitchen. No more greasy dishwasher and soiled hands. Dishes are clean and clear surgically clean and free from the germs that spread colds; this, a result of its scalding water. It is the greatest labor saving device introduced into the American home since the vacuum cleaner replaced the broom.

For the cooking and serving department, we have the General Electric range. Only the uninitiated can doubt the value of this clean, cook, dependable method of cooking. Here we can save you an hour a day in the late afternoon when social activities are often the gayest. No dirt, no gas fumes, no hot and stuffy kitchen to tire you before the family comes home.

Shape Is Important

The shape of your kitchen is important. Study shows that the "U" shape of working space is best. Working in the center, everything is at fingers' tips. We will place the food preservation and storage space in the arm of the U nearest the service door, where it will be convenient to groceries coming in. In this bend, under the window we will place the food preparation and cleaning department. In the arm of the U nearest the dining room door, we will place the cooking and service department. The central space can be 6 by 8 feet and give ample space for the medium sized family.

To support the units named above, we recommend steel cabinets. Those which we use are made of heavy furniture steel covered with three coats of baked enamel. Pots and pans are in bottom drawers that slide easily open and show every pot in it; no hunting. Middle drawers hold the flour, sugar, bread, etc. and top drawers are for small cooking implements. All drawers are lined with linoleum and are easily cleaned. All of these accessories are placed just where you need them, and a task, such as making a cake, can be done without moving from the spot where the food preparation center is located.

A very acceptable kitchen can be made of factory wood cabinets. These cabinets cost less, are of hardwood and are constructed to save dirt-catching corners. They do not have all the valuable accessories that you will find in the steel cabinets.

LARGE PLANE ORDER MADE FOR ARMY

Inglewood Company Will Turn Out 120 Ships; Cost $3,429,600

WASHINGTON.—The war department awarded a $3,429,600 contract yesterday to North American Aviation Inc., Inglewood, Calif., for the purchase of approximately 120 observation airplanes for the army air corps.

The new plane is a three-place, mid-wing single engine monoplane with retractable landing gear, power with an engine capable of developing approximately 850 horsepower.

Secretary Woodring said the contract virtually completed army aircraft purchases for the fiscal year 1937, during which approximately 600 machines have been ordered.

COMPANY WILL PUT MORE MEN TO WORK

INGLEWOOD. (AP)—Officials of North American Aviation, Inc., said the award to their firm of a $3,429,600 contract for army observation airplanes will mean eventually an addition to their working force.

At present time 1000 men are employed, but hiring will not start for some time, said J. H. Kindelberger, president.

"We are now turning out about one training airplane a day on a previous contract," he said. "Before we can get into production on the new airplanes, we will have to receive approval of the contract and get new plans from the army's engineers at Washington."

Kindelberger said the new observation airplanes will carry a crew of three—pilot, gunner and observer. They will be monoplanes.

Lathrop Junior High News

Japanese lanterns and pink paper cherry blossoms were the decorations for the eighth grade Japanese tea held in Mrs. Ethel Sinke's domestic science room at Lathrop on Tuesday afternoon. Five Japanese girls in their native costumes served tea, rice cakes, cookies and candied orange peel to the guests of the eighth graders. Girls who served were Sakae Masuda, Midori Masuda, Mary Doi, Rakumi Sasaki and Mitsuko Ochi. On the reception committee for the tea and in the library were Margaret Hawk, Betty Mae Nelson, Jeanne Pagenkopp, Nancy Steinberger, Glenna Jean Tichenal, Wesley Marsters, Dick Vance and Barbara Thwaite.

At an "English Tea" on Friday, Nov. 13, ninth graders entertained their parents and friends. On the reception committee were Ruth Ames, Lela Slaback, Jane Dale, Ruth Wallace and Jack Forcay, of the Junior Literary club. Sandwiches, cookies, candied orange peel and tea were served by the following girls, who wore starched white serving aprons and ruffled caps: Phyllis White, Corrine Wendorf, Emmy Lou Brooks, Mary Pappas, Betty Lu Perryman and Rosemary Pierce.

Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 18, seventh graders were hosts at a "Russian Tea" for their parents and friends. Receiving at the tea and in the library were Homer Chaney, Jr., Paul Wiener, Charles Chambers, Ruth Nelson, Betty Shidler and Mary Zohn. Girls who served Russian tea, sandwiches, cookies and candied orange peel to the guests were Molly Maloney, Ruth Mary Murphy, Betty Mae Nelson, Bonnie Lee Martin, Jo Lorraine Adams and Ruane Neighbour. These girls wore peasant aprons, white blouses and gayly colored scarfs.

Art classes at Lathrop have started their Christmas gift making. Cork mats, wood carvings, cloth paintings and cards in spat-prime are some of the interesting gifts being made in Mrs. Crumrine's seventh and eighth grade sections.

Mrs. Grace Wolff's home room is very interested in planting winter flower beds. Snapdragons, calendulas, Iceland poppies and rocks have been chosen by the class for beautifying their project.

In the Lathrop branch library this week there may be found a merry-go-round loaded with new books in brightly colored jackets, a stage (made by David Craighead) on which are displayed miniature dolls representing many well known book characters; a display of interesting old books and manuscripts, gathered together and exhibited by the English department; a display of science books and a microscope with a living organism on view; a set of maps with small paper books pinned to various parts of the country about which they were written (furnished by the social studies department); a book stall covered with interesting book titles, and displaying the two books purchased by the Junior Literary club for the library ("Around the World in Eleven Years" and "Spike, the Cowpuncher's Dog").

UNIVERSITIES FACE FUNDS CRISIS

State Institutions in Grave
Need of More Money,
Sproul Says

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California told 500 alumni here the university is facing one of the gravest problems in its history.

The 1933 legislature cut the university's budget $4,000,000, and since then only $1,000,000 has been added despite a 19 per cent increase in enrollment, he said.

"In the next biennium we expect another 14 per cent increase in the enrollment, and if we are kept on this starvation diet, California will not be the world-famous university it is now, but will be reduced to just another college," he said.

There are now 23,000 full-time students at Berkeley, Los Angeles, Davis and San Francisco, 14,000 being at Berkeley and 7000 at Los Angeles.

MERRIAM AGAINST ANY FURTHER TAXES

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—University of California's claims for larger appropriations are valid, Governor Merriam said today, if the legislature can find a way to give it more without increasing the budget beyond the $431,000,000 mark.

Commenting on the statement of President Sproul that the university is facing a grave problem for lack of funds, the governor said, "On a per capita basis, the university is no doubt entitled to more funds. It has a good claim for an added $1,400,000 or thereabouts, but I've set the state limit at $431,000,000 for the biennium.

"No added taxes" is the slogan of this administration. The only way to have no additional taxes is to spend no additional funds.

"Ought to Have It"

"It costs the state $50 a pupil per average daily attendance for the grade schools and $90 for high school students. On this basis, the university perhaps can demand more.

"I feel like saying they ought to have it, by my committed to keeping expenditures down to those of the last two years. If they can get the legislature to give them more by shifting funds around, I'm inclined to say O. K.

"But I don't think any institution outside the so-called charitable group, such as hospitals, prisons and the like, can demand more money at the cost of higher taxes. I think we can take care of them, due to per capita increases, without disturbing the budget. If we can take care of the university in the same way, it will be fine."

Garden Secrets

By Willis Cadwallader of Blanding Nurseries

"Such pruning leads to the spring which, Ponce de Leon sought in vain and prevents the frowziness of age," J. N. Baxter.

Pruning is performed for several reasons. Flowers and fruit are two of the reasons, and yet it is also done to promote the growth of wood and foliage, grace and symmetry of outline, and vigor and health of shrub or tree.

In the landscape field, each of the above considerations is of equal importance. Flowers are essential, but so are the shape of the plant, the growth of the wood and foliage, and the health and vitality of the shrub.

METHODS OF PRUNING

One of the first considerations in pruning flowering shrubs and trees is the season of bloom. Those that bloom in the spring should be pruned after the flowering season or in early summer. Their flowers are born on last year's wood. If they are cut back in the winter, the flowering wood is cut away and the spring bloom is lost.

If, however, the branches are cut back after the season of bloom, new wood will be encouraged to grow and this will bear flowers for the next season.

Those shrubs and trees that bear flowers in the autumn should be pruned some time after the flowering season and before growth starts in the spring. This class, which bears its flowers from the current season's growth, must be pruned before the flowering wood is developed or there will be no fall bloom.

For the removal of superfluous wood, a clean cut made in mid-summer will heal over more quickly than one made during the dormant season of winter. Some trees and shrubs whose branches bleed when cut in spring will readily heal if pruned while in full leaf.

The cutting back, or shortening in, of branches develops too dense a head, preventing the sunshine from penetrating to the surface of the leaves. It is better to thin out all subordinate or cross branches, leaving only a few major branches to carry on the development of the tree.

A shrub is that type of plant that throws out new canes from the base. In pruning, the whole cane should be removed from the bottom, leaving a limited number. Cutting out the old canes always leaves a young and attractive shrub.

HEAD OF U.S. EDUCATION ON KVOE

John W. Studebaker in Broadcast Here Tomorrow

A broadcast of unusual interest and importance to listeners in Orange County and southern California will be made from KVOE tomorrow morning at 8:45 when Dr. John W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education, will discuss briefly the Orange County Public Forum and adult education work being carried on in the county.

Dr. Studebaker's visit here will be a brief one and his broadcast will give many who would otherwise be unable to hear him an opportunity to hear him speak in person.

The broadcast was arranged in cooperation with KVOE by Homer Chaney, director of the Orange county public forum, who will be present as will Superintendent Frank A. Henderson, forum supervisor; Ray Adkinson, superintendent of Orange county schools; Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department, Santa Ana schools; W. W. Wiedemann, director of the forum broadcasts being made from KVOE, and other guests who are well known in Orange County education activities.

LEGION HONORS DIVA AT RITES

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—The pomp and panoply of full military funeral services were given today to Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heine, the diva.

A Legion guard of honor stood stiffly beside the coffin of the famed singer who died last Tuesday night after an extended illness.

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin delivered the brief eulogy. Mme. Schumann-Heine achieved greatness, he said, not so much through her artistic attainments as through her humanitarianism.

The body will be taken to San Diego where military funeral services will again be accorded her memory tomorrow. The body will be cremated and the ashes placed in Greenwood cemetery at San Diego.

SACRED MUSIC BROADCAST

The fourth in the new series of programs entitled "The Music That Endures" will be presented on KVOE tonight beginning at 8 o'clock.

The program features sacred songs by the choir and pipe organ and will include "Onward Christian Soldiers," "I Love to Tell the Story," "I Need Thee Every Hour" and many others.

Mammy's Story on 'Lens' Program

Tonight's edition of "Through the Hollywood Lens" on KVOE at 7:30 will bring a human interest story about a colored mammy whose great desire, before "crossing the River Jordan" in the old "chariot," was to visit Hollywood. She will have a grand surprise. The Hollywood reporter also will have news of how certain individuals about the film city voted, especially those whose vocabularies are quite limited to the word "yes."

Smart hit tunes of the season will be offered by Paul Martin and the studio orchestra.

Martin's Rangers Feature Pep Songs

Another group of particularly popular old songs, most of them full of zest and pep, will be included in the "Round-Up" on KVOE at 9 o'clock by Duke Martin and his Rangers.

Listed are "Oh Susanna," "Hand Me Down My Walking Cane," "Home on the Range," "Eleven More Months and Ten More Days" and "Kickin' Mule."

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

LAST night's meeting of the county League of Municipalities at Orange might well have been a session of Edison company workers, from the excellent representation of public utilities officials present. The word was out that speakers would advocate public ownership of light and power plants, and the utilities boys attended, I guess, to find out all about their troubles.

I felt sorta sorry for 'em, at that. No chance to argue, or anything. Harry Welch, Fullerton light and socket expert, was a wee bit red behind the ears a time or two, but didn't say a word.

One of the best attended league meetings in years. Due, I was told, mostly to efforts of active Mayor A. C. Boice of Orange. Mayor Boice, so his sidekick, Councilman Cal Lester said, really went to town in arranging the very wonderful dinner and decorations. He was solely responsible. Carrying out the theme of lighting with miniature lamp posts lighting the tables. All except the spot where the press sat. That was dark. Which, after all, was appropriate, I guess!

But the mayor and Councilman Cal cornered me and threatened retribution for a little piece I printed about 'em at San Clemente where they had a shoo-kicking contest. I think Mayor Boice was nearly ready to plant a good'n on the editorial countenance, when he seemed to stop and think what a good headline this'd make: "Mayor Socks Reporter," or something like that!

Chief of Police George Franzen, ever solicitous for the welfare of the press, offered his pet pencil for note-making. In fact, George brought along a couple of secretaries, just so the editor wouldn't be left with nothing to do.

Saw lots of old friends at the meeting. Charlie Griffith, Anaheim's city clerk, and Bill Holmes, who occupies a like position in San Clemente. Mayor Henry Fate, latest leader from the Spanish Speaking And Clyde Baxter, and lotsa others. All the guys brought their wives, too!

As usual, bumped into Ray Overacker, Huntington Beach city attorney. And Mayor Willis Warner, "n Engineer" Harry Overmyer. Attorney Burr Brown and Mayor Elmer Hughes also representing Seal Beach, where they don't play tango. Billy Hale, popular former mayor of Fullerton, received the biggest hand of the evening when introduced. All Bill has to do is twirl his handlebar mustaches and it stops 'em dead!

All sorts of legislators, mostly Assemblyman Clyde Watson and Senator Harry Westover, both noticed! Supervisor Harry Bill Hart, Fire Chief Roy David Smith, Fullerton, Mayor Charles Mann, Anaheim, Leo Sheridan, one of his councilmen, Fred Hezmalhalch, Fullerton city clerk, flunkies, and oodles of others.

The Leaguers whooped and hollered over the dinner served by county members, directed by Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake. "Twas wonderful, and a friend said Mayor Boice personally selected the menu and almost directed the preparation of the meal. If so, he's a blamed good cook!

Why is it so many speakers have trouble with statistics? Most of 'em can't say "statistics" to save their lives. The rest of 'em read too many!

Jim and John Tuffree, who raise at least a couple of boxes of oranges between 'em, discussed about the orange day.

I happened to listen in, and the conversation was most interesting. John had decided views on how cars should look, and what farm folks should purchase. Jim was busy comparing cars with bulging fenders of his own well-fed outline. He admitted both the cars and himself were pretty well streamlined!

The next time I go to San Juan Capistrano, I'm going to look for flags flying from lamp posts, firecrackers popping in the streets and folks all dressed up, ready to celebrate.

Equal to golden wedding celebrations is the event which certain residents now are observing there. 'S too bad they don't have a mayor, so he could declare legal holidays and make speeches.

The shouting, folks, is about the front window of the Coastline Dispatch, Verne Beck's newspaper in the mission village. Editor Beck, crossing me up, has washed that window, at least a month ahead of time. I'll bet the swallows are late arriving next spring!

The last time I can remember that window being washed was when W. A. and "Oke" Maxwell were running the paper, and decided to do some drastic decorating for last year's Christmas lighting program. Since that time, Editor Beck claims he's washed the window four times. I'll not doubt his word, but it sounds like a bit of exaggeration to me!

SAN CLEMENTE SLATES HUGE DAYS OF '49' CELEBRATION

CLUB BACKS DANCE AND FIESTA

Benefit for Annual Yule Party Is Announced For Dec. 5

SAN CLEMENTE.—This Spanish village will revert to early days of California history on Dec. 5, when the annual "Days of '49" celebration will be held in the Social clubhouse. Mayor Henry Fate announced today.

A huge community-wide affair, to which all residents of the area will be invited, is being planned by members of the Men's club, Mayor Fate announced. The annual affair is for the purpose of raising funds for the annual community Christmas party, at which every youngster of San Clemente and the surrounding district is given presents.

Leading this year's affair will be Orville Madison, with other Men's club officials assisting. Plans for the affair include a huge dance and other entertainment, with many prizes to be offered for costumes. Further details of the celebration will be worked out by committee heads within a few days, Mayor Fate announced.

In past years the '49er celebration has been widely attended, with residents of other county communities taking part in the festivities. City officials will aid in planning for this year's affair, it was announced.

Several hundred dollars are raised annually through the dance and celebration, and this is donated to youngsters in the form of Christmas gifts at the annual Men's club party, held shortly before Christmas day.

Newport Legion Plans Hi-jinx

NEWPORT - BALBOA.—New Year's eve, the big event of the Newport Harbor post of the American Legion, today was in the hands of a jinx committee instructed to plan for a bigger and better celebration in 1937.

Dedicated to details of the annual jamboree were commander Robert Boyd, chairman; Russell Norton, Al Dyckman and Chef Gus Tamplis. Appointment was made at the Legion meeting Tuesday night.

Cy Duane had spent a great deal of money to achieve exactly that effect. It pleased him to sit alone at his desk in this magnificence and know that men leaped to obey when he lifted a blunt finger and pressed one of the buttons on his desk.

He was a man who gloried in the acquisition of power. Money meant little to him, except as it provided him the necessary leverage to control the destinies of peoples, of nations. He had more than enough money—he could never have too much power.

His heavy shoulders were hunched forward, and elbows were planted solidly on the polished desk top as he studied a paper which had been laid before him. An intricate mass of detailed information concerning the movements of his merchant fleet over the seas girding the globe.

A man entered and moved soundlessly toward him. Duane's efficient and colorless secretary, the only man who dared enter this inner sanctum without a summons. Duane did not look up. "Don't bother me, Tooker," he grunted.

Tooker peered helplessly at the telegraph message he carried. "Yes, sir," he breathed respectfully. "I have—that is—an urgent message, Mr. Duane." He laid the telegram on the desk.

"Will you never learn to attend to insignificant details yourself, Tooker? Time and again I've told you not to interrupt me when I'm busy with my daily ship report."

He pushed the message aside and turned to the door. "Yes, sir," he called back. "I'll be right back."

two now operating, has paid out $18,000 to the boatmen, and expended a total of $28,333 on its activities here, its manager said.

One boat received a check for $450 for five tons of skipjack at $90 a ton, according to reports. Recently a catch of tuna set a high mark of $600 for one day's work.

EDITOR TALKS TO ORANGE ROTARY

ORANGE.—Ed Ainsworth, who classified himself as a "writer of a column, not a columnist," for the Los Angeles Times, was speaker at a meeting of the Rotary club yesterday.

Ainsworth said a columnist does nothing but write a column, but his column writing is merely one of his daily chores, along with editing offerings of 60 correspondents, picking out the most important news, and fitting it all on his page of the paper.

He gave examples of relative importance of news stories, told his private opinion of press agents, and unburdened himself of his pet hates, which are stories of cornerstone layings, golden weddings and post-mortem tributes to the departed.

He mentioned the work of two of his correspondents as outstanding, that of the one living in La Crescenta, whose name he did not give, and who did heroic work reporting the flood of a few years ago, and Stella White, Huntington Beach, who also did a fine job in gathering data on the 1933 earthquake.

He gave examples of relative importance of news stories, told his private opinion of press agents, and unburdened himself of his pet hates, which are stories of cornerstone layings, golden weddings and post-mortem tributes to the departed.

He was a man who gloried in the acquisition of power. Money meant little to him, except as it provided him the necessary leverage to control the destinies of peoples, of nations. He had more than enough money—he could never have too much power.

His heavy shoulders were hunched forward, and elbows were planted solidly on the polished desk top as he studied a paper which had been laid before him. An intricate mass of detailed information concerning the movements of his merchant fleet over the seas girding the globe.

A man entered and moved soundlessly toward him. Duane's efficient and colorless secretary, the only man who dared enter this inner sanctum without a summons. Duane did not look up. "Don't bother me, Tooker," he grunted.

Tooker peered helplessly at the telegraph message he carried. "Yes, sir," he breathed respectfully. "I have—that is—an urgent message, Mr. Duane." He laid the telegram on the desk.

"Will you never learn to attend to insignificant details yourself, Tooker? Time and again I've told you not to interrupt me when I'm busy with my daily ship report."

G. G. LIONS TO ATTEND GAME

GARDEN GROVE.—Lion club members of this city plan to attend the Santa Ana and Chaffee Junior college football game at Santa Ana tonight in a body, according to plans made at the club luncheon Wednesday.

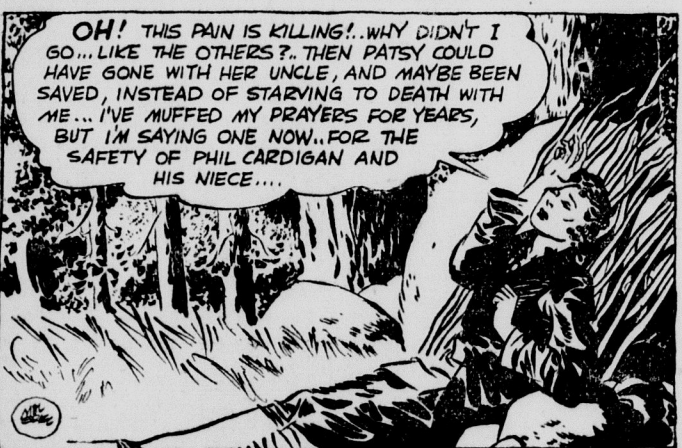

Three of the club's new members, the Rev. W. J. Keech, postmaster, Clair Head and Attorney George Tobias, spoke. President J. W. Crill appointed two committees, George Tobias, Donald Vance and Rodney Collins, to arrange musical programs; Ray Johnson

Our Changed Senate

AS A SURVIVOR of the recent Republican electoral massacre, Sen. Arthur Capper of Kansas has some interesting words to say about the changed Republican personnel of the U. S. Senate.

When the senate meets in January, the roll call will show, he says, only five Republicans who were there when he arrived in 1919.

Counting himself, only six so-called Republicans in the senate have survived four successive elections.

One is Senator Norris, re-elected this time as an independent. The Republicans nominated another candidate.

Another is Senator Borah, dean of the senate, who didn't mention Landon's name in his campaign.

A third is Sen. Hiram Johnson, who openly supported Roosevelt in 1932 and this time was at home ill until after election.

The fourth is Senate Republican Leader McNary, who is 75 per cent New Dealer, and who in his recent campaign left Landon to shift for himself and went after pro-Roosevelt votes.

The fifth is Senator Capper, who is at least a 60 per cent New Dealer who supported Landon, but who lines up with Roosevelt more often than many Democrats do.

The sixth, and the only reactionary in the bunch, is Senator Hale of Maine, who scraped in by a bare majority of 800 votes.

Capper diagnoses the trouble this way:

"This was brought about because the party to which I belong, I am sorry to say, either abused its powers or failed to make use of those powers in a way that satisfied the people that their interests were being safeguarded. . . .

"The people's verdict means that the federal government is to take a much larger share in the nation's program than ever before."

It's a significantly different senate. Times have really changed.

And then there's the fellow who wants to know if Mary Pickford is marrying Buddy Rogers because Freddy Bartholomew turned her down.

We, the Imprisoned

THANKSGIVING is near, and all of us are pondering over things to be thankful for. Wonder what a man in prison thinks about? The following editorial is quoted from a prison paper in Washington state penitentiary:

"Have we, the imprisoned, anything for which to be thankful?"

"On first thought nothing may rise to mind, for in prison the cloak of forced repression begets externals; and there seems nothing tangible on which to hinge immediate appreciation for the life that surges and swells beneath irksome shackles.

"Even on second thought there is apparent only the grim material finalities; bars that block the way; walls that curtain sight; rules that deter and cramp; restraints that bludgeon the spirit; colorless routine of such monotony the very heart within cries out for change.

"To the casual these galling externals impinge themselves upon all first and second thought. Yet, in that happier silence and sanctity of self, there must be few among us who do not go a little further, probe a little deeper, looking with truer vision over, above and beyond the moment's transient abuses to those finer intrinsic values in their serene relation to individual and collective life.

"Love; faith; hope; charity—can bars filter these qualities from those who would embrace them? No. Although the negative, they contain within themselves no power to compel. In prison as elsewhere, the most subversive imps of circumstances have no power to bludgeon the inner man, contrary to desire, to a fixed, fatal pattern.

"Bars; walls; steel; locks; levers; geographic locations—all if not entirely static, inert and lifeless, at least are impotent when matched against a courageous heart determined to resist the undertow of negation and rise buoyantly above externals in the constructive redemption of a life worth while, while breath remains.

"For this, are not the most thankless, thankful?"

And that, say we, shows that no matter what your troubles are—there's always a good side to life.

What An Interesting Prisoner!

IN THE county jail at Ventura there is an interesting prisoner. This elite inmate is Gavin W. Craig, associate justice of the state district court of appeal.

During his stay in the federal tank, Judge Craig will continue to draw his state salary of $10,000 a year—which all of us, as taxpayers, must dig up.

That's the law for you. The state supreme court decided the matter, ruling that Craig—who is under federal sentence for conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Italo Petroleum case—is still technically a judge and therefore entitled to his salary!

Next time you pay the State of California any money, figure out how much of it goes to Judge Craig.

It is either a rotten law or a rotten decision that permits a corrupt judge to draw down $10,000 a year for a job which he cannot perform and from which he should be forever barred.

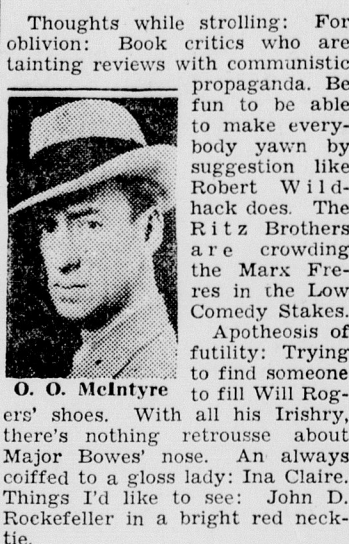

Why Smudge a Beautiful Name?

WILL some voice expert kindly tell us why it is that nearly all car conductors, train announcers, bus announcers and ticket sellers say "Santy Ana"? Or, sometimes, even "Santy Anny"? And usually with a whine.

They don't say "Santy Paula." They don't say "Santy Barbara"; the Santa Barbarans would slaughter the first one that tried it. For the most part, they don't say "Santy Claus." They shouldn't have a Christmas if they did.

And after the voice experts tell us why the travel directors insist on vulgarizing this city's beautiful name, will some other authority kindly invent a way to make them stop!

Thoughts while strolling: For oblivion: Book critics who are tainting reviews with communistic propaganda. Be fun to be able to make everybody yawn by suggestion like Robert Willard does. The Ritz Brothers are crowding the Marx Brothers in the Low Comedy Stakes. Apotheosis of futility: Trying to find someone to fill Will Rogers' shoes. With all his Irishry, there's nothing retrograde about Major Bowes' nose. An always coiffed to a gloss lady: Ina Claire. Things I'd like to see: John D. Rockefeller in a bright red necktie.

Chins alike: Doris Duke and George Gershwin. Musical odd: Some of those dandy tunes of Vincent Youmans. Douglas Fairbanks still has a hop to his stride. Nick-names for the poet Berton Braloy: Old Hat. First in forensics: Brainbridge Coldy. Dinty Doyle, the crack radio scribe. Acent part Youth: Col. E. T. Stotesbury beating a drum at his birthday party every year. Bryan Field, for my money, to pack excitement in a race broadcast. The President's son-in-law, John Boettiger, has what the studios call "the leading man" look. Wonder if Jack Benny eats that dessert? Nobody can say "foist" exactly like Al Smith. With a feathered head-dress Harry Richman could pass for a Sioux Indian. He would take only a small Homer Croys to put the hair brush people out of business. Australia has a dandy name for a nosy person: Sticky Bear.

One of the picturesque industries of the lower East Side is the Old Clothes market—a highly organized trade that reaches even into the jungles of Africa. The market is surplus salvage from all parts of the United States. Navy supply houses, second hand dealers and junk men. Every article is fumigated and refurbished by 200 expert workers before sent to final destination. The turn over is a half million a year and several million men reside in crumpled apartment houses. A few are night club spenders.

The Old Clothes Market issues a catalog much in the manner of the mail order concern. There are dresses from 35 cents to 70 cents, relocked hats at $10 a dozen, suits from $150 to $2 each and overcoats from 50 cents to $1. A large part of the cast-off garments go to Asia and Africa and some to the deep South's textile and cotton picking areas. The stuff is raked in crates and bales and its arrival on sailing ships at outer fringes of civilization is often inspiration for calling together the tribes and a jubilee.

Jewelry which went into hiding or the back shops with gold coinage is making a hasty-toasty come back. The avenue establishments have had their best year in the past five with a heavy Christmas rush in the offing. Diamonds, too, that were cached in safety vaults are sparkling in public and Jules Glaeser is smiling a bit of tweedy-tan all around town.

Broadway has watched with usual sadistic curiosity the growing attachment of a middle-aged bald Social Register Romeo for a lispng cabaret cutie in one of the floor shows. In a burst of reckless senility the coddler sits in calfe-dreamingness at a ringside table night after night with eyes for no one but the chorine. While she and her sisters regard him with suppressed sniggers. His car waits to take her home and flowers are dispatched several times a day. An embryo Daddy Brownling going into his dotage with a flourish!

I lived in the West Side family hotel that was the home of Daddy Brownling before his orderly life took the odd turn that made him whoop circulation for tabloids. He listened to the evening concerts and retired at 10 p. m., was regular in church attendance and especially considerate of old ladies at face him. When he began to figure in the headlines all I remembered idiosyncrasies that didn't mean anything at the time—such as buttons half way up his coat sleeves, six horns on his car, etc. First symptoms of his progressive egomania.

She was one of the languid lassies tete tete with a handsome boy friend in a booth in the 60's. While he tried to be all merry and bright she adjusted her coiffure, held off her nails for admiring glances, etc., and now and then tossed him a pinchy smile. Finally from him: "Listen Lady Vere de Vere. You might give me that if I don't happen to meet you at a basement counter yelling: 'Cash girl—thirty-six out of a dollar!'" Silence!

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—One of the best gauges of a cabinet member is how he conducts his press conferences. Here, day in and day out, he meets the correspondents whose job it is to pry into his department, embarrass him, harass him—anything to get the news.

It is a revealing process. And here is how the major actors of the Roosevelt cabinet have stood up under four years of the press conference grind:

Secretary of State Hull is empty and elaborate. Frequently forthright and profane in private conversation, in press conference he can say nothing and consume more time in saying it than any other secretary of state in years. For example:

"Mr. Secretary, what is the position of this government toward the proposed mediation in Spain?"

Putting the tips of his slender fingers together, Hull replies:

"This question is being given due consideration, with attention to the complexities of the case and the gravity of the issue involved."

You could count on your fingers the number of times that Hull has pronounced the simple word "yes" or "no" in four long years.

Though Hull meets the press daily (as against weekly conferences by most of the others) the bars are never down. No jokes. No first-naming. Always the opening, "Good morning, gentlemen," from Hull, and the closing "Thank you, Mr. Secretary," from the newsmen.

JIM FARLEY

In contrast, take Jim Farley. A conference with the postmaster general is like an Elks reunion. He knows the boys by their first names. They call him "Jim." It's a rough and tumble conference, like an ill-managed schoolroom. The loudest question gets the answer.

"Listen here, Jim," chafed a correspondent one day, "why don't you quit being a politician for a change and be a postmaster? Your service is lousy. They sent me a special delivery letter from Philadelphia two days ago, and it just came this morning. You ought to do something about it."

Farley doesn't get sore. He never minds. His best answers are off the record. He'll speak his mind about a lot of politicians but "Just between you and me."

DAN ROPER

Again, contrast Farley and Roper. The secretary of commerce is pontifical. He sits at the end of a long table in his air-cooled reception room, a Phi Beta Kappa key sparkling on his rotund tum, and opens the conference by reading a prepared statement.

He is a match for Hull at evasive statement. Somebody asks him a direct question. He ponders, clears his throat, smiles benignly, speaks an eloquent equivocation.

HENRY WALLACE

Henry Wallace is much more satisfactory. He likes to speak his mind. When he first came to town, he was naive about this, got himself into hot water. Now he is more cautious. But his weekly conference always makes headlines.

His advisers before reporters come into his office. They try to anticipate the questions. One day John Hamilton had made a speech attacking the Canadian trade agreement. Wallace and his team expected to be quizzed on this. He prepared a hot answer.

But the newsmen asked about the drought and imports, skipping John Hamilton. Then came the "plant." A member of the team whispered to a newsmen, "Ask him about Hamilton's speech."

The question was put, and Wallace came out with his answer—obviously prepared in advance. It was too good to waste.

CLAUDE SWANSON

Secretary Swanson doesn't know the answers, but he hates to admit it. After the cigars have been passed around by a naval aide, the meagre handful of reporters settle down to quiz the commander in chief of the navy.

Somebody puts a puzzle about the "escalator" clause in the naval treaty. Swanson doesn't know whether the answer is yes or no. He glances covertly at an admiral, gets a nod, lights a cigaret, and says "Yes."

The death of news from the navy is surpassed only by the other arm of the nation's defense. The war department contents itself with issuing statements about changes in personnel. Long before the death of Secretary Dern, conferences with the press were abandoned.

MISS PERKINS

If the press rates the war department zero, the grade is only zero-plus for the cabinet's lone lady. On those rare occasions when Miss Perkins summons newsmen to her new suite on Constitution avenue, she regales them with a dissertation that brings back unpleasant memories of freshmen economics.

Her favorite stunt is to produce the latest report of the bureau of labor statistics, and read column after column of figures at a speed surpassed only by the movement of her fingers through a bead necklace. Nobody takes the figures down. It's both impossible and unnecessary to do so.

After a breathless half-hour of this, Miss Perkins stops and smiles pleasantly, indicating that she has no more instruction to give. The conference is over. And it is a total loss.

HOMER CUMMINGS

The attorney general rates a notch above the secretary of labor. His conferences are especially well populated on some frequent occasions when some New Deal measure has just been knocked on the head by the supreme court.

Also, Mr. Cummings always passes out a box of cigars, which Miss Perkins does not.

There is one man in the cabinet whom the press has promoted. Morgenthau, and read column after column of figures at a speed surpassed only by the movement of her fingers through a bead necklace. Nobody takes the figures down. It's both impossible and unnecessary to do so.

After a few unpleasant months he warmed up, now has won the friendly admiration of the men assigned to the treasury.

One day, during the campaign, when the boys filed in before his desk for the conference, Morgenthau looked up to see that each one wore in his lapel a large and beaming sunflower.

Dr. J. H. Pullin is laid up by a badly sprained back, as the result of a wrench given him this morning by an unruly horse.

on each lapel a bit of fruit grown on his own farm—raspberries.

HAROLD ICKES

A conference with Harold Ickes is a newsmen's holiday. He sits in his shirt-sleeves back of a big desk, fits a cigaret into a holder, leans forward on his crossed arms, glares at the reporters—ready for anything.

Not only is Ickes the boss of an outfit that makes news by its activity, but also the sardonic turn of his mind produces words that make headlines. "That man," he said, referring to ex-cavalryman Hugh Johnson, "has intellectual saddle sores."

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Europe Needs Some Funny Men

THERE is much saving grace in wholesome humor. Tensions break and clouds roll away in a chorus of chuckles, in rollicking laughter, in the spirit of play. What Europe needs right now is a good funny-man, a Will Rogers, an Eddie Cantor, a Joe E. Brown, or Joe Penner. Somebody to fill the airways with side-shaking nonsense. And the laugh that would break the vicious circle is smothered in the making.

Mrs. Simpson has been a blessing to Britain and to Europe. Premier Baldwin and Minister Eden, empire safety and budgetary estimates have been pushed aside for something of more interest. British throats needed a new topic and Mrs. Simpson and his Royal Highness and Imperial Majesty Rex et Imperator, have saved the theme. Let the arguments of royalty versus commoner go on to the bitter end.

That California woman who smacked Herr Hitler on his funny face last summer deserves a congressional medal or something. I have always been opposed to the erection of stupid monuments, but I would vote for an imposing public testimony to the audacious and laugh-provoking woman, who rushed the grenadiers and shook the cookie-cutter quivered in shattered dignity.

But Europe has never known the relish of unselfish humor. Cartooning has never reached a decent level of development. What passes for caricatures in European papers are grotesque distortions. They must be carefully explained in detail before the reader gets the point and then

LIQUOR LICENSES

To the Editor: I notice that in last Saturday's Journal you described the proposal to license all liquor drinkers as "just another scheme to grab off more money and influence for the state board of equalization."

Having come here just a few months ago from Iowa, I would like to tell you about the liquor system in use there where individual licenses are working out very satisfactorily.

The state owns all the liquor stores in Iowa and takes the profits therefrom. Every purchaser of liquor must have a license for which he or she pays $1 a year, and must show this license every time liquor is bought. A registration of sales is kept.

In this way minors and habitual drunkards are prevented from making purchases. The registration of sales is of great value in case the purchaser is involved in an automobile accident later and there is a suspicion of drunkenness.

I believe that the individual can be much better controlled by the consumer license system. If a person abuses the use of liquor, his license is taken away—so most people are far more careful with the privilege than they would be otherwise.

He says the California-Arizona citrus industry received $11,715,561 f. o. b. shipping point for 98,719 carloads of oranges. That's bringing the money from the east to the west. Exchange shippers received $54,864,322.
